BOULDER BILL SIGNED

HUGE STILL CONFISCATED BY SHERIFF

Sheriff Establishes Rum Blockade On County Coast

SHIP'S PLANS FOR LANDING LIQUOR TOLD

Runners, Now Off Mexico, Seek Chance to Slip Through Shore Patrols
CLOSE GUARD IS KEPT
Officers Here Co-operate With Police of L. A. to Keep Booze Off Market

WHILE RUM runners are reported to be hovering off the Lower California coastline awaiting the opportunity to get their illicit cargoes to land for the Christmas market, and while rumors indicate that they are cleverer than ever this year, having been forced to adopt heretofore unknown ruses, authorities in Orange county announced today that they would co-operate in the fullest detail with Los Angeles county officials to prevent the landing of contraband liquor.

District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. stated today that the vigilance of officials here would be maintained and that the Orange county coastline would be adequately protected in the event landing attempts are made.

Chief Criminal Deputy F. W. Howard stated that, if the necessity arises, special provision will be made to ward off any attempted landing of booze on the Orange county coast. The sheriff's office is patrolling the coastline at present with a detail on duty three and four nights a week.

Specialized Business
The announcements were taken to mean that any attempt to land booze on the Orange county coast will meet with probable failure and that those desiring Christmas liquor will continue to meet the same conditions that have prevailed heretofore with respect to smuggling in booze.

That the booze smuggling racket is developing into a highly specialized and elusive business is indicated by reports on the methods which authorities may be expected to encounter if attempts to land booze here are made. While there is no definite information that liquor boats are off the Orange county coastline, the fleet of 25 ships rumored to be lying off the Mexican shore is said to be planning to send out one ship at a time with a cargo of booze to be landed through a scheme which is believed to give the smugglers almost complete protection from meeting the law.

The buck is being passed to the bootleggers and retailers, it is believed.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CONDITION KING GEORGE

Prince George, Youngest Of His Majesty's Sons To Get Home Today

By KEITH JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Dec. 21.—A bulletin issued by King George's physicians shortly before noon today said: "The king had a restful night. There is no appreciable change to be noted."

"STANLEY HEWITT. "HUGH RIGBY. "DAWSON OF PENN."

The bulletin was timed 11:30 a.m. No bulletin was issued at the palace last night, since the physicians felt the statement issued in the afternoon covered conditions sufficiently.

One of the highest officials at the palace explained to the United Press that the official statement was designed to reassure the public concerning the king's condition before the holiday season became too far advanced to permit the usual Christmas celebrations, which have been deferred on account of the gravity of the king's illness.

The statement was not unexpected, in view of the progress indicated in the bulletins since Sunday.

Ray-therapy (ultra violet ray) treatments are being continued by the physicians. The treatments have successfully controlled the poison in the lungs by strengthening the tissues.

The king slept better during the night than he has for some time. Everything was quiet in the sick-room.

The medical expert of the Daily Express in commenting on the commission of the usual evening bulletin last night, said today: "There could be no more satisfactory indication of the king's progress."

The usual crowd gathered at the palace last night for the bulletin. The official statement still was posted on the bulletin board and later it was learned that no bulletin would be issued.

GIRL PRISONER OF TWO MEN RESCUED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The rescue of a 16-year-old girl from the hands of two taxi-cab drivers who are charged with holding her prisoner for 18 days in a San Francisco apartment was made by a squad of police today.

The girl is Edna Bojo. Her god-mother, Mrs. Ruth Lesama, led the police to the apartment where they battered down the door and found the girl with the two drivers, Edward Hines and Emil La Pera.

Famous N. Y. Hotel Will Be Replaced By 50-Story Block

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(INS)—Another of New York City's famous landmarks is about to succumb to the march of commerce. The Waldorf-Astoria, one of the world's best-known hotels since the dawn of the century, is to be torn down to make way for a 50-story office building.

Lucius M. Boomer, president of the Waldorf-Astoria Realty company, announced that the hotel had been sold to the Bethlehem Engineering corporation and would be torn down next summer. The sale price was reported to be approximately $20,000,000.

Shortest Day Of Year

Ho hum! Why should we have had to get up at all today? Such a short time between the first crowing of the neighborhood rooster at dawn this morning, and the first gleam of the evening star tonight that it seems as though a holiday might have been declared and the few daylight hours given over to sleep—and recuperation from the strain of Christmas preparation.

For today, December 21, was the shortest day of the year. But to balance that shortcoming, it was one of the most important, for it saw the abdication of the "Pretender," the Prince of Autumn, and the ascent to the throne of King Winter. The date ushered in the winter solstice which will continue through the famous Ides of March which Mister Shakespeare bade us remember, clear to June 21, the longest day of the year in the northern hemisphere, and the beginning of the summer solstice. The two solstices signify the approximate dates on which the sun is farthest from the equator, north and south.

SIGNING OF BOULDER MEASURE BY PRESIDENT BRINGS FORTH PRAISE FROM STATE OFFICERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(INS)—"This is California's greatest day!" These words summed up the expressions of joy heard everywhere in Southern California when the news spread that President Coolidge had signed the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill.

Public officials, business men, industrial leaders and others in all walks of life joined in the declaration that the action of the president spelled prosperity and progress in unparalleled degree, assuring abundant water and hydro-electric power, as well as bringing thousands of square miles of desert land into production.

Some of the statements of leading citizens follow:

H. L. Carnahan, lieutenant governor: "This is the best Christmas news Los Angeles and California have ever received. The president with a stroke of his pen has assured the development of our state, particularly of Southern California for all time to come. I am delighted beyond power of expression and cannot say enough in praise of Senator Johnson, Congressman Swing and all the others who have given their time and energy to bring about this marvelous development."

E. F. Scattergood, chief of the Los Angeles power bureau: "This is an occasion for rejoicing on the part of Southern California. The measure will double the wealth in Southern California within ten years from the time the project is started."

H. A. Van Norman, chief of the Los Angeles water bureau: "I am delighted at the signing of the bill, though of course I anticipated it. It means much to Southern California and the southwest. Congratulations are due all who worked long to secure the passage of the measure."

Dr. John R. Haynes, of the Los Angeles water commission: "In conjunction with the entire southwest, I am grateful and happy over the assurance of a Boulder dam. I hope the secretary of the interior will think it proper to allow Los Angeles a fair proportion of the power that can be created at the dam."

Governor Young today issued the following statement on the president's signing of the Swing-Johnson bill:

HOOVER LANDS IN BRAZIL FOR 3 DAYS VISIT

Crowd on Hand to Greet President Elect As He Leaves His Ship

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 21.—President-elect Herbert Hoover landed here today as the deep-throated thunder of guns saluted him on his last call on foreign soil.

Mr. Hoover and his party stepped ashore at the Plaza Praca Maua just before 2 o'clock this afternoon and a vast crowd of Brazilians cheered wildly.

Two Brazilian cruisers, the Bahia and the Rio Grande do Sul, stood by off the coast during the night awaiting the Utah to escort her into the harbor. Captain C. B. Train of the Utah wireless the cruisers his position several times during the night to facilitate their joining the American vessel this morning.

The Utah steamed at 16 knots an hour throughout the night in clear warm water and a calm sea.

All the members of the party retired early last night in anticipation of the extensive entertainment program which has been prepared by the Brazilian government in honor of the visiting American statesman.

Mr. Hoover will be welcomed officially at the docks by President Washington Luis of Brazil, Vice President Mello Vianna, officials of the senate and chamber of deputies and other governmental authorities.

Later Mr. Hoover will hold a reception at Guabara palace which the government has set

GANGSTERS ORDERED FROM S. F. BY POLICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Racketeers began leaving San Francisco today under a police order that followed an outbreak of gang warfare in this section.

The order to foreign born gangsters to leave the city in 24 hours or face deportation was the sequel to a series of murders culminating in the shooting of Alfred Scarisno, New York gangster, and Vito Pellegri near Sacramento.

Scarisno had been named by police here as the slayer of his partner, Jerry Ferri, here.

Two Arrested Last Night At Wintersburg

Fourteen Barrels of Mash And Tank and Coils Taken By Officers

SHERIFF'S OFFICERS in a raid on a house at Wintersburg early last night, uncovered one of the most complete plants for the making of whiskey found here in several months.

Two men in the house were arrested and are being held in the county jail on charges of possession of a still, a felony charge. They gave the names of Charles Pace, 36, hod carrier, and George Mashburn, 43, hod carrier, both of Los Angeles.

A trap door in the floor of the dining room of the house led to a well concealed cellar where the still was located. Officers also found 14 barrels of mash, coils, pressure tanks and other equipment, which was confiscated and brought to the sheriff's office.

Both men claimed they had been in the house only a few minutes and apparently they did not know where a secret "get-away" tunnel was located, it was said. Officers found the tunnel after a search.

The still, one of the best built ever seen here in the liquor racket, was capable of producing 75 gallons of "mule" a day, F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff said. Other officers who made the raid were F. L. Humiston and A. L. Steward.

Desert Land Near El Centro Sought Dam Bill Signed

EL CENTRO, Calif., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Following news of the endorsement today of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill by President Coolidge, a large number of queries were received here from ex-service men regarding filings on the desert mesa land east of Imperial valley, according to F. H. Melver, secretary of the Imperial Irrigation company.

As provided by stipulation in the land laws, ex-service men will have priority rights when the land is opened for homesteading. More than 100,000 acres of this land was withdrawn from entry several years ago. Although rich in agricultural values, the area is too high to be reached by the present gravity irrigation system which supplies the valley.

In the event that construction of the All-American canal proposed in connection with the Boulder dam should be undertaken within the next three or four years, however, the land would undoubtedly be thrown open.

JUDGE ALLEN MAY PRESIDE AT RIVERSIDE

Local Jurist May Be Sent To Adjoining County In Trial of Mayor

DEFINITE ARRANGEMENTS, through which Superior Judge James L. Allen might preside over the trial of Mayor E. H. Dighton, of Riverside, facing grand jury indictments of criminal libel, had not been made today, although the possibility was being considered by judges of superior court here.

Unless Riverside county makes arrangements whereby a judge from the court there is transferred to Santa Ana in the event of Judge Allen's absence, it is not thought probable that he will be able to leave, it was learned here today. It was pointed out that the calendar here requires the presence of three judges but that if an exchange can be arranged it will be satisfactory to the court here.

Mayor Dighton's trial is scheduled for January 7. Judge Allen took charge of the preliminary hearing, ordering a special panel of 150 jurors at the time. Indictment of Mayor Dighton followed his alleged accusation of improper conduct of office on the part of City Auditor Pierson.

KILLER ACQUITTED BY TUCSON JURORS

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 21.—(UP)—George B. Echols, Tucson contractor, was acquitted of first degree murder by a jury in superior court here last night.

The contractor, accused of shooting James L. Mills, of Phoenix, at a dance hall here October 13, pleaded justifiable homicide as his defense, claiming that Mills repeatedly had threatened his life.

Echols' divorced wife, Mrs. Louise Echols, testified in his behalf, hinting that a triangle love affair had aroused hatred between the men.

'Voodoo Doctor' Held As Headless Body Discovered

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 21.—(UP)—The headless body of a man was held at the county morgue here today while police tried to penetrate the mystery surrounding his death.

In Charity hospital, with bullet wounds in both legs, was a "voodoo doctor" who is believed to have been implicated.

The "voodoo doctor" was shot when he attempted to flee from House Detective Charles Rhodes and other officers who accosted him in his hotel room.

After he was removed to the hospital he confessed that two days ago he killed Nehemiah Gibbs with a piece of iron, robbed him of $75, then took the body to the basement of his house and chopped the head off with an ax.

EIGHT YEAR BATTLE ENDS EARLY TODAY

President Signs Measure At 10:20 O'clock with Pen Furnished By Swing

SEVEN STATES BENEFIT

Secretary of Interior Can Start Work After Six States Ratify Water Pact

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—President Coolidge signed the Boulder Dam bill at 10:20 a. m. today. With this act the famous measure carrying $165,000,000 became a law. Under it, there will be construction of a giant dam on the Colorado to water the valleys of the far southwest, control floods and create power.

The bill provides for construction of a 550 foot dam at either Black or Boulder canyon in the Colorado river as an irrigation, flood control and hydro-electric project.

Signature of the bill by President Coolidge ends a fight which has proceeded in congress for eight years.

Arizona has been the principal opponent of the legislation, claiming that California would receive more than a fair share of the benefits at the expense of states further up the river.

By terms of the bill, the secretary of interior is given authority to proceed with construction of the dam as soon as he obtains contracts for sale of water and hydro-electric power rights sufficient to assure amortization in 50 years and as soon after a period of six months as six interested states ratify the Colorado river compact.

This compact provides for distribution of water among the seven states which adjoin the river.

The financial plan upon which the bill is based is that sale of water for irrigation and domestic use and of hydro-electric power will pay the entire cost of the project.

The authorized cost is $165,000,000, including the dam, hydro-electric plant and all-American canal, which will carry water into California.

The secretary of interior is given the option of building the hydro-electric plant himself and selling power at the switchboard; Building the plant and leasing it by unit; or leasing the power rights leaving it to the private company, a state or a municipality to build and operate the plant.

This bill authorizes expenditure of $165,000,000 and requires that special appropriation bills be passed for the actual outlay of funds.

The president signed the measure with an ornate desk pen brought to the White House by Rep. Swing, Republican, California, who with Senator Johnson, Republican, California, wrote the bill.

PARENTS OF DEAD HERO GIVEN MEDAL

PASADENA, Dec. 21.—(UP)—A Carnegie hero medal, an acknowledgment of their son's act of bravery which cost his life, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stevens, Pasadena, at the Kiwanis club meeting here yesterday.

The son, Ronald, was fishing with two other boys from a boat on a lake near, Boonville, Mo., when his cousin, Walter Whitman, 12, fell overboard.

Ronald succeeded in bringing the younger lad to the surface but his efforts so exhausted him that both were drowned.

To the Readers of The Register:

I have just been looking over the report of the Circulation Manager of our paper. Actually, there is nothing but figures on this report but I began to visualize those figures and I saw the thousands of homes and the scores of thousands of the readers in those homes.

This report tells me that last evening The Register carrier boys placed The Register in 6000 homes in the city, and these homes had subscribed and paid for the paper. More than this, this report tells me that the newsstand, counter sales, and street sales brought the grand total of papers received and paid for by Santa Ana people to nearly 6600 in the city of Santa Ana alone. By other items of this report, and by canvassers' statements accompanying it, I learned that these homes are 96 per cent of the total homes in Santa Ana which receive any daily paper printed in the English language.

I note further that the number of homes which are receiving and paying for the paper in the county has grown to such a degree that the people receiving The Register are larger by hundreds than ever before in the history of the paper. And as I take the report of today and compare it with reports of other days, I find there is a steady increase in this number for many weeks past.

More than this, I have received many expressions of kindly appreciation and helpful suggestions, there has been relatively little criticism of adverse character. The friends indeed are legion.

These facts bring to me a deep sense of gratitude and of responsibility and I wish to express this to the readers of the paper. I thank you for this evidence of confidence and loyal support. I felt as I viewed this great group that it would be indeed presumptuous to imagine that it was possible to publish a paper completely worthy of the time and attention of a daily audience of some 60,000 to 75,000 souls. But it shall be our highest ambition and purpose to continue each day to do our best.

In a business way also, The Register reaches our highest expectations and hope. This also is due primarily to the devotion and loyalty of our readers. The merchants utilize columns of The Register to reach you because they find it profitable and they find it profitable because of that nearness to unanimity with which the paper is taken in the city, and the blanket manner in which it covers the county. I know they, as well as I, are pleased when they are able to use a single medium covering their trading area for they are anxious to save, first for their own interests and secondly for yours.

They know that the expense of advertising must always ultimately be added to the cost of their merchandise, as must other expenses. And so that you finally profit by this saving. This unity of interest is of mutual profit and as the one conducting the clearing house for this medium of common value, I and those associated with me are anxious to do our best to serve.

At this second Christmas season in Santa Ana, I am glad to thus intimately express to you this feeling of gratitude for the past, humility in the face of the responsibility of the present, and determination for the future.

Sincerely,
J. FRANK BURKE, Editor.

OFFICERS KEEP CLOSE GUARD ON SHORELINE

Heved, so that the rum boats may be enabled to minimize their law-breaking and, at the same time, be assured of their money even if the cargo is intercepted. According to reports, the smugglers will not land their liquor until they have been guaranteed their money through bank deposits from the bootleggers who expect to receive the cargo.

Flash Light as Signal

At an appointed time, according to the plan, the land men would be stationed on the coast ready to get their supplies. If they believe the coast is clear, a light will flash from a nearby hill as a signal to the rum ship. The rum runner will slip fairly close in and then will dispatch swift cutters with the booze cargo into the breaker line. The boats will not land, but will dump the kegs into the waves so that they will be washed ashore, and then will dash back. The larger boat thus will be in danger only while it is within the three-mile limit and it will be in that region only for a short time. The possibility of apprehending the smaller, swifter boats, is believed to be slight. They, too, will be near the coast but for a short time, according to the rumored scheme.

Thus the men facing real danger of being caught are the bootleggers, who would lift the kegs from the water as they float in, if the plan succeeded. And even if the booze is discovered by authorities, the money is on deposit and the rum runners are sure of their profits.

SEPARATION IS ASKED BY WIFE; BLAMES LIQUOR

Arthur F. White wanted his wife to seek a divorce, but instead she asked the superior court here to order payment of $250 a month for her support and that of her children, according to Mrs. Helen L. White's complaint for maintenance, filed today.

White, she stated, had been in the habit of conducting obscene booze parties in their home at which women were present and at which he once offered their children liquor to drink. When she refused to drink with him and his friends, he abused her, she said. She said that on one occasion she was forced to stay up until morning because his friends, at a drunken orgy, were occupying their beds.

One night he set fire to their piano, according to the complaint, which said that when Mrs. White told him about the blaze he abused her and forced her to pay for the damage out of her allowance. He came home one afternoon and told her to get out with the children, Mrs. White declared.

She left, she said. Although she said her husband wanted her to get a divorce, she is asking for separate maintenance. They were married in 1915 and separated in 1927, the complaint said. The case was transferred to superior court here from Alameda county because of White's residence here.

CHRISTMAS ASSISTANCE TO NEEDY PURPOSE OF SHOW SPONSORED BY LIONS CLUB

Charitable assistance to poor and needy of the city is the purpose of the matinee to be held in the Yost theater tomorrow afternoon, under the auspices of the Santa Ana Lions club, it was pointed out today by Judge Kenneth Morrison, who has organized the program as chairman of a committee assigned to the duty.

The admission fee of five cents and one potato to all children in the grade schools and the junior high schools is designed by the club as an opportunity for the children to not only enjoy themselves but to contribute to a cause that is worthy in every particular.

Pointing out that the potatoes will be distributed by the club to poor families, Morrison said that cash prizes of $5, $3 and $1 would be given to the boys or girls bringing potatoes that are determined by competent judges to the first, second and third largest.

"We hope to see the playhouse packed with kiddies when the program starts at 2:15, tomorrow," Morrison said. "We know the children will enjoy the program arranged for them and the happiness of the children will be one of the compensations for our work."

canyon dam, because it solves the water problem for Southern California, was a necessary link in any plan for statewide conservation and utilization of the state's water resources.

"The people may now proceed with confidence towards the consummation of those great engineering projects in the northern and central portions of the state which alone can provide a dependable water supply for thousands of acres now unproductive or limited because of lack of water.

"These things are part and parcel of the vision of the California of the future. They must come gradually so as not to disturb the agricultural balance and result in over production; but with the development of the orient now actively taking place, and with the improvement of commercial relations with our Latin neighbors to the south, it is impossible to overstate the future demand for California products."

JEROME LAUDS JOHNSON FOR BOULDER WORK

Among the very first men of the west to extend congratulations to Senator Hiram Johnson and Congressman Phil D. Swing on their signal victory in bringing about the passage of the Boulder dam bill was County Auditor W. C. Jerome, a warm personal friend of each legislator, who today sent a letter to the two Californians congratulating them on their success.

As soon as the news arrived that President Coolidge had signed the bill, Jerome wrote to Johnson and Swing expressing not only his own deep appreciation for their faithful and courageous service but also setting forth sentiments which the entire state will echo.

That the huge dam at Boulder canyon will be a monument which will keep green forever the memories of the two men was declared by Jerome in his letter. Few men are given the vision, he said, to view such a huge and difficult undertaking as a reality; or the courage to stand by the fight for seven years, facing opposition on every hand until victory finally was assured.

Jerome's letter suggested the thousands of acres of land in Southern California which will be placed in cultivation as a result of the bill's passage, to develop into another monument to Swing and Johnson as their green crops mature, bringing new prosperity to the Southland. Cities, too, drawing on the water in the dam for their development, will grow into still other monuments to the two men who made the Boulder canyon dam possible, Jerome's letter indicated.

Chicago Observes First Winter Day With Cold Spell

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(INS)—The first day of winter, according to the Calendar, was fittingly celebrated in Chicago today with the lowest temperature since last February.

The mercury dipped to 4 degrees above zero at 4 o'clock this morning, official reading at the federal building disclosed.

One death was attributed indirectly to the cold snap. Miss Mary Klingenberg, 62, of Bellewood, a suburb, was suffocated in a fire starting from an overheated stove.

The extreme cold is general throughout the middle west. It will moderate somewhat today and tomorrow, according to the weather bureau.

Immediately after signing the measure, the president with the delegation posed for photographers on the south lawn of the White House where the president was congratulated for making the measure a law.

The desk pen along with one of the president's own desk pens, also used during the ceremonies, was presented the authors of the bill.

Later, it developed a third pen was used by the president in signing the measure. It will be presented to George Young, editor of the Los Angeles Examiner.

The Boulder Dam bill as signed conforms in all essential features to the recommendations of the interior department, Commissioner E. B. Mead said today.

The reservoir capacity, site, provision for a power plant and provisions protecting the rights of the upper states were all included in the interior department's reports, he stated.

Representative Swing, Republican, California, co-author of the bill, said the southwest always will feel deeply indebted to President Coolidge for his support of the project.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Round about you are multitudes too feeble, too sorely wounded, to lift up their heads; sorrow has broken and unmanned them.

You must not be traitor to God's confidence in you, when He bestowed upon you latent strength whereby you shall be able to triumph over weakness and doubt and to march bravely forward.

Not for your own sake primarily must you be strong, but for those quailing spirits who will falter and stumble and fall unless they can lean upon your strength.

God calls for a leader and He is counting upon you.

Police News

Frank McCormick, 61, teamster, was arrested last night at Fourth and French streets on a charge of being drunk. Officers Swain and Perry made the arrest.

Police were called to 835 North Garvey street last night to seek prowlers, but no one was found, according to a report at the city police station.

Henry Roades, charged with speeding on his motorcycle, was fined $10 in police court yesterday and a similar fine was dealt out to W. M. Crissman, 617 South Birch street. John Jamison, charged with speeding, was sent to the juvenile court.

Charged with vagrancy, G. W. Chambers and R. W. Pendegast were given 30-day suspended jail sentences in police court here yesterday.

Two persons were fined in police court yesterday on charges of parking their machines in restricted districts. They were T. J. Corn and A. C. Grant. Both fines were for $2.

SUSPECT WILL BE BROUGHT TO S. A. FOR TRIAL

Harry Page, 25, arrested in Los Angeles on a charge of burglary, has confessed to the burglary of at least two places in Orange county and will be brought here, probably late today, for trial, the sheriff's office announced.

Page admitted to E. M. Jemison, deputy sheriff, according to the officer, that he was the burglar who entered the home of Henry Richmuller, on the Santa Ana-Anaheim road, several months ago, stealing a roll of bills which Richmuller said contained $400, and to have entered the Blue Moon cafe, near the Richmuller home, where he stole a phonograph worth $250.

The confession is said to have come about after Jemison found a pillow slip in a huge pile of confiscated property, loot of Page's alleged burglaries, which is being held by Los Angeles police. Richmuller identified the slip as one his wife had embroidered and when Page was faced with the slip he admitted the theft, Jemison said.

Page said he was working at the Orange County Bulb Gardens, near the scene of the two robberies, at the time he entered the two places, Jemison said.

ATTORNEY FOR RAND WILL ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Christmas won't be as interesting to Clarence P. Rand, convicted bigamist, as December 23, which will arrive just one week from today. Of course Christmas may take on a mild form of interest for Rand, but all the time his eye will be set for the 28th, for on that day a motion for a new trial in his case will be argued in superior court.

Rand was to have been sentenced today. When he appeared, however, his attorney, Franklin G. West, made a motion for a new trial.

The hearing will have a unique aspect, for Presiding Judge H. G. Ames stated today that both he and Superior Judge E. J. Marks would listen to arguments presented in order to determine whether the new trial will be granted.

Judge Marks presided at Rand's trial when he was found guilty of bigamy. Rand had pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity and a second hearing to determine his mental condition, was held before Judge Ames. Both judges, therefore, will pass on the motion for a new trial. West stated today, when he made the motion, that he regarded the two hearings as being simply separate parts of one trial and that therefore his motion was directed really at both hearings.

Moore, Released From Norwalk To Face Check Count

Sherman Moore, Compton ex-service man, sent to the Norwalk State hospital several months ago, after he had been arrested here on a check charge, today was back in the county jail, the hospital having discharged him as sane, it was announced.

Z. B. West, district attorney, announced with the return of Moore that the charge originally filed against him would be pushed and that he would be tried as soon as possible.

Moore has been arrested here more than once on check charges, officers said.

COURT MARTIAL DECISION HERE IS QUESTIONED

The granting of a writ of habeas corpus to Maynard E. Workman, Santa Ana National Guardsman, by Superior Judge Allen, after the man had been placed in the county jail following a court martial for failure to pay a military fine, brought forth today a letter from Frank S. Hutton, lieutenant-colonel and judge advocate of the California National Guard.

Lieutenant-Colonel Hutton pointed out that the sole purpose of his inquiry was to protect court martial sentences, to promote, un-law and to protect the disciplinary authority of National Guard officers.

The letter requested that the writer be informed as to the general reasons for the judgment of the Santa Ana court. Judge Allen pointed out today that the writ of habeas corpus was granted because the court martial which sentenced Workman had no jurisdiction to send him to jail under the circumstances which prevailed. Workman was tried and fined $3 for failure to report for drill. He did not pay the fine and did not report for drill. He was arrested and put in jail for a five-day term.

Judge Allen pointed out that if a second hearing had been held and a jail sentence imposed, the proceeding would have been regular, but that Workman could not be held on the strength of the first hearing for failure to pay a military fine.

Two Injured in Auto, Truck Crash

Fred Gulley, 1416 Durant street, was severely cut on the right hand, and Paul Remp, 7, of Red Hill, received cuts about the head when a truck and an automobile collided yesterday afternoon at the intersection of McFadden street and Chestnut avenue. Both were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where their injuries were given medical attention, and then removed to their homes.

CASE IS MOST DESPICABLE IMAGINABLE, SAYS COURT IN SENTENCING TRIO TO JAIL

Characterized by Superior Judge E. J. Marks as one of the lowest and most despicable affairs imaginable, the case of Bob Turner, Joe Hammond and Lonnie Speagle, convicted of contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls, came to an end here today when the trio received county jail sentences from the court ranging from nine months to two years.

A jury returned a verdict of guilty for all three men late yesterday. Time for pronouncement of judgment was set for today and, one by one, Judge Marks took up the three cases and consigned the men to jail. Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett and Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman conducted the prosecution, while T. L. McFadden and D. G. Wettlin appeared as counsel for the defendants.

"The evidence showed that Turner was conducting a house of the lowest order, where liquor was supplied to young girls," said Judge Marks, sentencing the man to spend two years in the county jail. "There is only one way the court knows to stop this sort of thing and that is to confine the guilty people to jail," Judge Marks said.

Joe Hammond was given an 18-month term in the county jail. The evidence showed that he had taken a girl to the Turner place, where she was subjected to immoral influence. Speagle, who was shown to have taken liquor to the house, which was used in the alleged immoral parties, received a nine-month sentence in the county jail.

600 POUNDS OF FRUIT STOLEN BY PAIR. CLAIM

Charged with theft of approximately 600 pounds of avocados from Orange county ranchers during the last several days, a man and woman were taken into custody yesterday by Robert Sandon, of the district attorney's office, and are booked on charges of petty theft.

The woman is Mrs. Edith Harrod, 31, wife of an alleged fruit thief who now is in the county jail serving time for petty theft. She was arrested in her home at 934 Minter street. Gordon Pusley, 32, mechanic, residing on Minter street, who has been out of jail only 18 days after serving time for petty theft in connection with the theft of avocados, is the man held.

Since Pusley was freed, after serving a three-month sentence, he has robbed several avocado groves, according to Sandon.

Sandon said that the arrests came about after an investigation in which he was aided by Officers Rankin and Freeman, of the Los Angeles sheriff's office.

Court Notes

S. Bowes pleaded guilty in superior court today on a charge of burglary. The court set next Wednesday, at 1:30 p. m., as the date for pronouncement of judgment.

Joseph Holub pleaded guilty today to possession of liquor and asked for probation. His hearing was set for next Wednesday at 9:30 a. m., in superior court.

Information charging Joaquin De Anda with child stealing was filed in superior court today. The information said that De Anda was accused of stealing Bacilia Perez on November from Juana Perez. Time for entering an answer to the charge was set for next Wednesday.

George Sharer, charged with non-support, pleaded guilty to the accusation today and asked for probation. He was to have a hearing late today. According to Milburn Harvey, his attorney, Sharer again is living with his wife.

CONFISCATED BOOZE DUMPED INTO SEWER

Several hundred gallons of liquor, confiscated by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and his deputies during the last several weeks, this afternoon was being dumped into the sewer on the grounds of the county courthouse.

Dumping of the liquor, Jernigan said, was just a matter of making room for the additional liquor officers probably will bring in during the holidays.

The "liquor room" in the county jail was overcrowded with barrels, bottles and other containers, filled with wine, gin and whiskey, and could hold no more, the sheriff said.

Scientists declare that the orange was formerly a berry and that it has been developing for over 7000 years.

ARMY EXPECTS TO SPEND $600 CARING FOR NEEDY PERSONS OF SANTA ANA ON CHRISTMAS

Christmas dinner baskets delivered to poor families of this city on Christmas day by the Salvation Army will contain roast beef, vegetables and fruits, it was revealed today by Capt. Guy B. Van de Hook.

The captain said that approximately $200 worth of jellies and canned fruits, gathered by children in Santa Ana schools had been given to the Army for the dinner baskets.

With contributions today to The Register fund reaching $116, Captain Van de Hook said the addition of donations made through the Army kettles would bring the fund to between $500 and $600 by Christmas.

Today's donations to The Register fund totaled $40. In tendering a check for $5, one of the contributors offered written comment on the fine work of the Salvation Army. It was the appeal to the Army of a mother with 21 cents in the family exchequer that appealed to the heart of the contributor.

"I have $5 that I am sure will bring more happiness to that large family than any one else—and I am going to buy $5 worth of stock in that bunch of kiddies," writes the donor. He points out that just what brought this family of eight to dire need is not the question—the point is that the family is in distress and needs help.

"I hope that by contributing a few dollars I can get along without I may call attention of readers to the bravest spiritual support that America has today," says the correspondent, in referring to the Salvation Army. "I glory in their spirit and the executive ability of the organization. As I sat in the office of Captain Van de Hook the other day and witnessed the dispatch and justice with which he handled the derelicts I marveled at the mastery control he has of the situation. I was shocked at the sight of people that continuously came and left. They left with smiles on their faces, for when they departed they had a ticket for one meal and one bed—no more, no less. They looked as happy as if they had just become heirs to a fortune."

GERMAN DANCE MASTERS URGE 'TRANQUILITY'

BERLIN, Dec. 21.—(UP)—German dancing-masters have issued their edict for 1929 ballroom fashions. Away with the contortions resembling a tribal kraal during the burial of a native chief.

"Dance like molasses flows," is the new watchword.

Tranquility, elegance, poise and discretion are a few of the nouns which the German dancing sovereigns use to describe their rules of conduct for dancers during the coming season.

"Don't get excited on the dancing floor," is their warning, "and don't let your temperament run away with you, no matter how boisterous the tunes emanating from that saxophone may be."

The Berlin pace-setters of dancing styles, Lutz Hoffman and Reinhold Commer, have decided the fate of the following dances:

The quickstep charleston will set the fashion in German ballrooms this year. It will be danced with lively rhythm, occasionally merging into the fox-trot with turns and whirls and short running steps, strongly syncopated.

"Blues" Are Dead

The "blues" are dead. Nor will the Yale blues replace them.

The "slow fox" will be danced with simplicity, being restricted to two short and one long step.

The tango is destined to remain the queen of 1929 dances, retaining its southern congeniality and assured of popularity. The English waltz is still looked upon with favor, but is adapted more to the tea-dances than formal balls.

The "twist" is a newcomer and may prove a dark horse this season. Its feature is a skating stride, for which waxed soles are desirable.

No rosy future is predicted for the "sugar step" and the "Baltimore," and their appearance at German dances will be shortlived.

The good, old-fashioned Viennese waltz, hardest of all hardy perennials, will retain its family popularity.

Yule Greetings For Members Of Newport C. of C.

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 21.—Christmas greetings were being mailed to all members of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce today by G. C. McLeod, secretary of the chamber. Besides the greetings on the cover there is a short verse inside which tells of the advantages of the harbor district and Southern California. The verse was written by MacLeod.

XMAS IS FULL TIME JOB FOR HOLLY FARMER

SEATTLE, Wn., Dec. 21.—(UP)—"Christmas comes but once a year"—for most of us.

However, Christmas is an all-year proposition for Edward P. Tremper, who works the year around on his holly farm.

It is quite possible that the bright holly wreath that adorns your home or place of business at present came from Tremper's farm.

Although he and his assistants work the entire year, the rush season does not start until four weeks before Christmas.

Then the crop is harvested. Forces of men spend each daylight hour clipping branches. Through-out the night other workers make wreaths, pack the finished product and ship it.

So great has the demand been for holly from Tremper's farm that his product is shipped annually to all sections of the country.

Tremper says that he got his idea of a "holly farm" from the royal gardens at Kew and Kenilworth Castle.

GUNNERY RECORDS SET BY U. S. FLEET

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The battle fleet has established new world's records for all forms of gunnery practice in dreadnaught, submarine, cruiser and destroyer classes, and, as such, leads all other combatant forces of the navy in efficiency, it was announced here today.

Having completed its schedule of training exercises yesterday, the fleet will remain in port until departure for the South American cruise January 15.

STOWAWAY TRADE

BREMEN, Germany, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Detectives in the port of Bremen have just discovered a secret "Institute for stowaways," occupied chiefly in smuggling European emigrants into the United States. The ringleaders of the "Institute" have been arrested. The enterprise, locally known as Stowaways, Inc., maintained its headquarters at a small, inconspicuous hotel in Bremerhaven.

The smugglers preyed mainly upon Italian emigrants, from whom they exacted plump fees for a trip and safe entry into the United States.

In connection with their discovery, the police caught 13 Italian stowaways on a German steamer, about to leave Bremerhaven for New York. All were taken into custody.

BATTLE FLEET SCHEDULE FOR 1929 IS TOLD

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Dec. 21.—(UP)—An extensive program of gunnery, tactics and cruises are outlined in the battle fleet schedule for the fiscal year of 1929 issued here recently.

Following its return from the spring cruise in Central and South American waters in March, 1929, the fleet will engage in gunnery practice on local ranges until July 1.

Immediately after completion of these exercises, the vessels will proceed to their respective Fourth of July ports.

From these stations they will continue northward to Puget Sound and will remain there until August 11. On their return to San Francisco from northern waters August 12 to 16, the fleet will engage in tactical maneuvers. It will remain at San Francisco until August 25, when it is scheduled to return here.

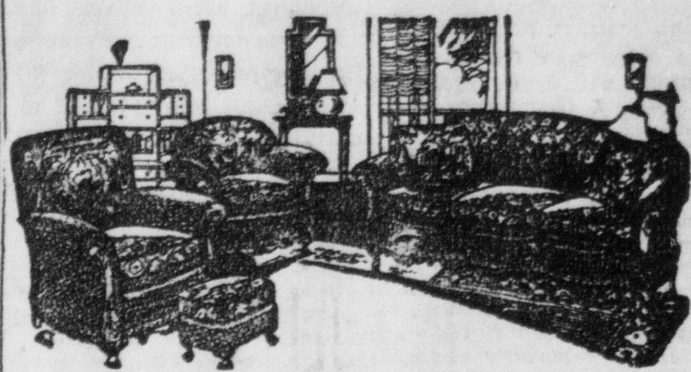

Except for two weeks between July 1 to 16, when it is scheduled to concentrate at San Francisco the aircraft carrier division will remain at the local base.

From October 1 to February 14, 1930, the battle fleet will operate in the San Diego-Los Angeles harbor area. Following this they will leave for a spring cruise to New York, the schedule said.

The continued cackling and quacking of ducks and geese and other poultry is said to indicate rain.

OPEN HOSPITAL IN CLEVELAND FOR DIABETES

By JOHN E. DEEGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 21.—The new $1,000,000 Cunningham sanitarium, which has as its underlying theory increased air pressure as a cure for diabetes, has been formally opened here as a place of treatment for diabetes, pernicious anemia and other diseases heretofore pronounced incurable.

The main compartment of the sanitarium is a huge steel ball, 64 feet in diameter and five stories high. It is a completely equipped hospital. Adjoining is a long cylindrical tank which provides the means of access to the main construction and offers a preliminary test of air pressure to patients about to undergo the cure.

This revolutionary idea in hospitals was introduced eight years ago by Dr. Orville J. Cunningham, of Kansas City, Mo. For years, Dr. Cunningham had advocated the use of compressed air for the treatment of various diseases but it was not until he had interested H. H. Timken, millionaire steel man of Canton, O., that he was able to put his idea into effect. Timken agreed to finance the institution after a friend had gone to Kansas City and had been treated for diabetes in a small tank Dr. Cunningham had constructed in his own back yard.

There are two other tanks, besides the one used as the entrance, that flank the main compartment. Patients will live in these tanks for a week at a time under an atmospheric pressure of from five to 30 pounds.

After living in the main sphere of one of the smaller tanks for a week, the patient spends seven days at home or in a hotel, before another week in the tanks. This process is repeated until the doctor pronounces a cure.

PIONEER DAYS OF ORANGE COUNTY ARE RECALLED AT ROTARY SESSION THURSDAY

ORANGE, Dec. 21.—Pioneer ranchers, merchants and physicians of Orange county were guests of the Orange Rotary club at its regular meeting yesterday in the American Legion clubhouse, when days of half a century ago were recalled.

The interesting event was planned by J. F. Cramer, who was the chairman of the day. Each member of the club had as his guest some pioneer of the city or county. Guests were introduced and gave a short talk of the early days.

Among those who were introduced was Jonathan Watson, pioneer rancher. Watson who is now 84 years of age, was the captain of a train that led the gold seekers into California. He has lived on his ranch near Olive for the past 60 years and set his land to oranges five years after he purchased it in 1868. He was famous as a hunter and plainsman in the early days.

Samuel Armor, another one of the speakers, was the first supervisor of Orange county when it was formed in 1889. He has taken an active part in the civic affairs of the community. He moved to West Orange in 1875. Mrs. Armor was one of the first teachers of Orange. In 1890 Mrs. Armor took charge of the Orange Post of which she and Armor assumed control until 1915.

E. A. Honey, who ran the water works in the city in the early days, related his experiences in operating the plant by horse power. If Honey cared to go hunting housewives were obliged to draw enough water to last the time he was gone.

D. C. Pixley, who played a prominent role in Orange financial circles for many years, spoke briefly of the days when he purchased the store of R. L. Crowther, later building a brick block on North Glassell street. Pixley came here in 1882 and was active in forming the building and loan association. His son, Osman Pixley, also spoke briefly.

J. R. Porter, recently elected president of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, spoke of early days of which he has intimate knowledge, having come to the city in 1887. He was president of the First National bank here for many years.

D. F. Campbell, one of the original stockholders in the Santiago Orange Growers' association, was introduced. Campbell has some of the oldest Valencia trees in the structures are furnished in the interior much after the manner of an up-to-date ocean liner. It has accommodations for 96 persons.

INDIAN STATE HITS BLOW AT EASY DIVORCE

PESHAWAR, India, Dec. 21.—Divorce used to be an easy matter in Baluchistan, the little-known state which lies just over the Northwest Frontier and to the South of Afghanistan.

All a Baluchi had to do was to appear before the local court or "Jirga," composed of a committee of respected elders, and state that his wife was unfaithful. He would at once be granted a divorce, which, incidentally, gave him the lawful right to kill her.

It was argued that any man who submits to the indignity of acknowledging his wife's unfaithfulness must have true cause. No opportunity was offered the woman to state her case.

Now there are changes. Westernization of the East, so strongly supported by King Amanullah of Afghanistan, has crept South, and Baluchis are grumbling that the new divorce laws are not nearly so satisfactory as the old.

According to the present system the woman is allowed to give evidence in her own defense.

Even so, the odds are against her. The "Jirga" is composed of men, and is all-powerful in Baluchistan. There is no redress from faulty verdicts. The accused when found guilty has to pay the penalty prescribed and summary justice is meted out.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Two pigs were able to run about a field here after they were removed from an old abandoned well where they had been entombed for 11 days. R. A. Corson, owner of the pigs, had not searched for them thinking wolves had killed them.

MAIL CARRIER HAS FAITHFUL CANINE FRIEND

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Rain or shine, George H. Lichter, Columbus mailman, is sure of company as he delivers Christmas cards, bills, and love letters along his route.

"Prince," a black and white collie belonging to J. W. McDonald, meets Lichter regularly at 8 a. m. at a street corner and trudges over the 10-mile route with his friend. Just what canine timepiece Prince uses cannot be discovered, but he never misses his appointment.

In the middle of the route "Prince" stops and lunches with the mailman. As to menu, the dog likes to top off his meat scraps with cheese and candy.

"Prince" knows all the cats and dogs along the mail route, but never condescends to quarrel with them. He scouts ahead of Lichter as if conscious of a duty to protect Uncle Sam's business.

If the mailman happens to be late for the daily appointment with "Prince," the dog will calmly sit down at the corner and wait for him. But whether or not his friend is delinquent, "Prince" is on hand at the stroke of 8.

Claims Whistle
Caused Deafness

WALLA WALLA, Wn., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Mayor McCroskey of Walla Walla has received a letter from ex-Mayor Tausick asking compensation because he was deafened in 1910 when W. H. Whitaker blew the first whistle so loudly that it deafened him.

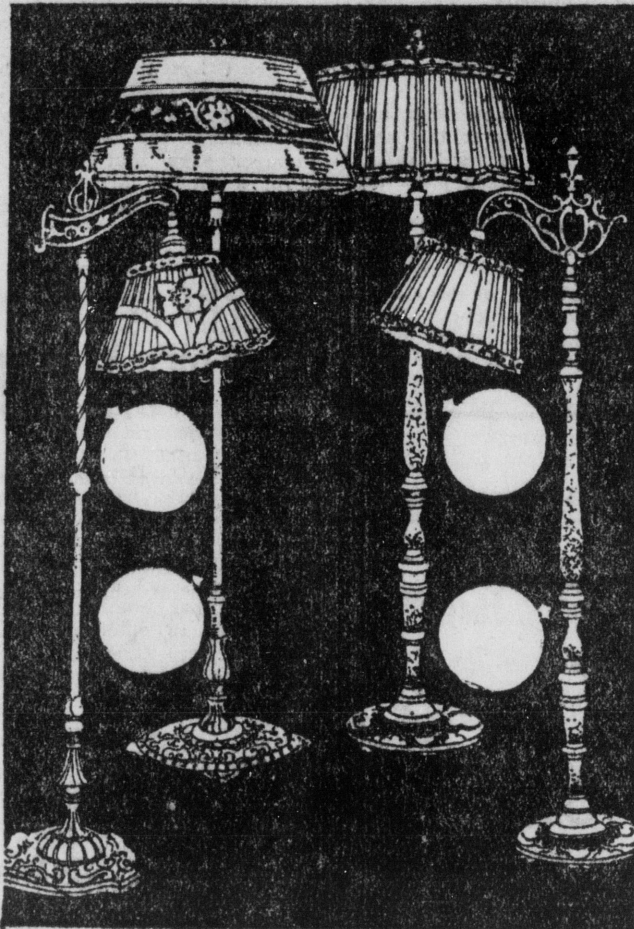

Tausick said in his letter that the ailment makes it difficult for him to get to work. No action has been taken on the matter, McCoskey announced.

SKIRT BREVITY IS GIVEN CRITICISM

GERBER, Calif., Dec. 21.—(UP)—The shorter the skirts, the shorter the married life.

So declared the Rev. C. W. Cutler, pastor of the Gerber Community church, who believes that "men are being won these days by sex appeal rather than by soul appeal.

"A single girl's a fool to see how far she can go without harm in her dress, but a married woman is a bigger fool to try the same thing."

"I'm opposed to carloads of half-naked women parading in the street. If the women could hear what the men say about them, they would be appalled to it, too."

ODD FISHING METHODS

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 21.—There are many ways of catching fish, but one of the most quaint methods is that revealed by natives to the Administrator of New Guinea (Brigadier General Wisdom), on a tour of the territory. At Hetau the natives gave an exhibition of kite fishing for gars.

The kites are constructed of pandanus leaf, and shaped like huge birds, are flown from canoes, the motion of which makes the kite's tail skip along the surface of the water. A "spider's" web is attached in which the fish become entangled. Often 50 fish are caught with one kite in a day. The natives also stupefy fish with drugs.

"My children despise eggs, yet they ought to have them"

Delight them with this sugar, vanilla and milk egg-nog!

WE RECENTLY heard a mother say that her children simply despise eggs, and yet she knew how much her children needed eggs in their diet.

There are many adults also who do not like the taste of eggs. Not only that, but many people, both children and adults, who do like eggs tire of them rather quickly.

Here is a very simple recipe for an egg-nog so delicious that it will satisfy everybody and it is almost impossible to taste egg in it.

Beat the yolk separately and blend in two teaspoons of sugar, then add half a pint of milk and whip in the beaten egg white; add 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla and beat until frothy. This delicious blend may be varied by adding a tablespoon of chocolate syrup, or a spoonful of ice cream.

This tasteful drink encourages an appetite for eggs and milk, both of which are such beneficial foods for children and adults. As every mother knows, it is absolutely necessary that her children have milk, and it is very important that they have eggs.

Note what a little sugar does for taste. Sugar is nature's ideal flavor. Sugar is not only nutriment in its most inexpensive form—it adds zest and enjoyment to nearly every healthful food that is known. There is no substitute for sugar in the daily diet. The Sugar Institute.

FIRST PICTURES OF GANGSTERS' CONVENTION

Here is the first authentic picture of a gangsters' convention. It was taken in Cleveland, where 23 gunmen from Chicago and other cities were seized the other day shortly after they had registered at a downtown hotel. A patrolman in front of the hotel saw them disembark from travel-stained automobiles in the early dawn and told headquarters about it. As a result some interesting minutes of the conclave were recorded in central police station. The gangsters are said to have gathered in Cleveland to discuss a liquor racket.

PEDESTRIANS

ROME, Dec. 21.—A month's imprisonment in a fortress was the punishment meted out to a "senior" or major of the blackshirt militia for disobeying traffic laws.

Signor Gian Gaetano Fogaccio, being asked by a traffic policeman to follow the new Roman rule for pedestrians to the effect that they must keep to the left, and move along the principal streets in two right and left streams, indignantly refused.

His superior officers punished him for this breach of discipline as for a military offense.

Big Octopus Dies On Hunger Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The first seven-foot octopus ever brought to the local aquarium alive was dead today after an eight-day hunger strike.

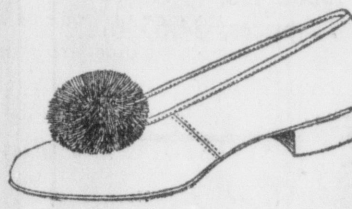

The animal, which was christened Jerry after its incarceration in a huge tank of the Golden Gate Park Museum, showed its anger at the captivity by refusing to eat and squirted a black ink fluid into the water whenever anyone approached it.

Charles W. Hibbard, assistant of the aquarium, put all kinds of delicate sea food into the tank but the octopus shunned everything except one small sardine.

PERFECTING OF HELICOGYRE IS SHOWN IN TEST

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Promising tests have been carried out in Paris with the new Isacco helicoogyre flying machine, an improved model of which has been ordered by the British Air ministry.

The machine, it is claimed, can ascend and descend absolutely vertically and hover in the air, and is regarded as the next step in the development of aviation initiated by Senor de la Cierva with his autogyro.

The windmill blades of the Isacco machine have been given life and independence by the installation of motors, thus giving almost perfect control, whereas the blades in the Cierva autogyro are left to themselves. The helicoogyre now being built for the Air ministry at the Saunders aircraft works at Cowes, Isle of Wight, is regarded as a great improvement on the one recently tested successfully at Le Bourget. While the details of the Air Ministry's machine are a closely guarded secret, and may differ considerably from those of the helicoogyre at Le Bourget, it is known that the latter has a fuselage fitted with an aerogline, and a large two-bladed windmill, each blade being fitted with a motor and airscrew which face in opposite directions thus drawing the windmill around.

MODERN ENOCH ARDEN STORY IS REVEALED

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 21.—(UP)—A twentieth century Enoch Arden was revealed here with the death of John Davis, laborer.

Davis, as he was known to his few friends here, a little more than 14 years ago, kissed his wife goodbye at their little home in Quebec, Canada, and went to France to fight for his country.

He was reported dead, but came through the war without serious injury.

Returning to his little Quebec cottage, John La Rouché, looked in the window, and like the Enoch Arden of fiction found another man happily married to his wife.

He gazed into the window for some time, and then wheeled on his heel and headed into the darkness.

When John La Rouché was seen again it was as John Davis, laborer in the Texas oil fields.

Until he was about to die, Davis kept his secret and not until then did he reveal the reason for his strange, quiet and secluded life.

A quartet composed of Mrs. L. V. Steen, Mrs. Pickenpaugh, Jack Harmony and Harold Ferguson sang.

Don't Let Flu Get a Foothold; Check at Start

Fight Germs With Vapors and Avoid Dosing

Most cases of Flu start with just a simple cold. If neglected the cold lowers the physical resistance and makes the body easy prey for influenza, grip and pneumonia.

The only safe plan is to start Vicks protective treatment at once: Put a little Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and snuff well back. If convenient, also place some Vicks in a bowl of hot water; inhale the steaming vapors. At bedtime, rub Vicks on your throat and chest.

Vicks then brings relief in 2 ways: (1) Its ingredients, vaporized by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the infected air passages; (2) It acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and pain.—Adv.

MEN ONLY

Wouldn't You Like to See Something Nice In Silk Underwear?

Betty and Rose of this shop are two maidens with a somewhat sympathetic leaning toward the masculine part of the world. Men seem to find it easy to reciprocate. For example, this time of the year develops a crop of men with harrassed countenances who wish someone would read their minds and not force them to describe by motions or otherwise certain little filmy intimate garments they're going to buy for gifts, danged if they don't. Betty and Rose have a way about them that brings the men in droves to this Shop of Understanding to buy gifts of silk underthings.

It's good for business. And it's encouraged us to go out and get all the nice things there is in Silk Underwear Gift Sets, Nighties, Fancy Pajamas, Negligees, French Pantie Sets, Step-in Sets, and so on. You can guess how it is. Come in and let us show you how to play this little gift game for a winner!

BRAZILIAN ASKS MONOPOLY ON WORD "RADIO"

An attempt in Brazil to obtain exclusive trade-mark rights to the word "Radio" has caused an official protest by the U. S. government to Brazil, through the state department and the department of commerce. The Radio Manufacturers' association was advised that the protest probably would be successful.

J. B. Junqueira attempted to get exclusive rights in Brazil to the word "Radio," which would virtually have barred all radio exports of American manufacturers to Brazil.

The state department advised the R. M. A. that, following receipt of the protest, the American embassy at Rio de Janeiro had been cabled to request cancellation of the trade-mark registration as a violation of the Santiago trade-mark convention of 1923, to which the United States and Brazil are parties. The Embassy was also directed to take any necessary steps to effect the cancellation of the objectionable Brazilian trade-mark application.

The R. M. A. protest to the state and commerce departments declared that registration, as an exclusive, individual monopoly, of the "Radio" would be most unjust to the radio industry, both of the United States and of Brazil, declaring that "Radio" is a generic term of universal use and should not become the individual trade-mark property of any person or company.

KGO WILL PRESENT FLOTOW'S 'MARTHA'

An announcement that should be of especial interest to lovers of grand opera comes from KGO stating that Flotow's "Martha" is to be presented over the General Electric station between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight.

The de Vally Singers, under the direction of Antoine de Vally, will give "Martha," using a special radio edition just published by Birchard and company. This is believed to be the first time such a publication has been made of any opera. Although many cuts have been made in the score in order to make it adaptable to radio and to limit the four acts to an hour's presentation, none of the charm of "Martha" has been lost, according to de Vally.

Music Course To Continue During Yuletide Holiday

Though schools are closed for Christmas, the Standard School broadcast from 11:30 a. m. to 12 noon on Thursdays will be continued, it was announced today. Parents and other adults listening in have found these preparatory lectures preceding the evening Standard Symphony hour as interesting as have their own children, according to the "fan" mail these programs have brought in place of the regular course of instruction planned for the school year, special programs appropriate to the holiday season are being given.

DAILY PRESENTATIONS

SIX-HOUR PROGRAM TO DEDICATE STUDIO

The program dedicating the broadcast studios of C. Sharpe Minor will be put on the air over KMIC between 6 p. m. and 12 midnight tonight. Many stellar artists have been lined up to participate in the program, which will include:

Carl Sibbert, operatic tenor; Cora Bird, soprano; Ruth Hunt, Negro dialect; Julia Kellar, harpist; Rocco Barberi, violin; Hugh Martin, baritone; Elizabeth Le Fevre, cello; George Williams, violin; Joe Stanislaus, bass; Indeani, trumpet; Du Rocher, xylophone; Gertrude Ross, pianist; Oscar Teel, baritone, and that ain't all.

Spanish Hour To Be Put On NBC's Network By KFI

Featuring Maria de la Vara, prominent Spanish soprano, accompanied by Los Caballeros orchestra, KFI will present another of a series of Spanish hour programs tonight, from 7 to 8 o'clock. The program, which will originate in KFI's studio, will be broadcast over Pacific coast NBC system stations.

Senorita de la Vara's first appearance before a microphone came during an audition at KFI when Robert Hurd, program manager heard her voice and immediately put her on the Spanish hour program. Since her first appearance, which was but a few weeks ago, Senorita de la Vara has received hundreds of telegrams, letters, and phone calls from admirers.

BARGES OF U. S. DEPEND UPON SHORT WAVES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The dependence of the inland waterways corporation, the government-owned barge transportation organization on the Mississippi and War-rrior rivers, upon radio communication to maintain schedule operation was explained to the federal radio commission by Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman and executive of the corporation.

Urging the commission to renew the licenses of four of the short wave stations now being operated along the rivers, General Ashburn said that the operations of the service are "as regular and dependable as train operation and only because of radio communication between operating points and between boats and shore."

The corporation has four separate applications before the commission, asking for renewal of licenses originally issued by the department of commerce before the commission was formed. They are for the corporation's stations at Birmingham and Mobile, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., and Minneapolis, all terminal points of the Mississippi-Warrior service.

Two Birds Stage Close Race For State Selection

Three thousand votes have been received by KGO so far as a result of a campaign which Bert Harwell is conducting over the General Electric station every Thursday night, starting at 6:30 p. m., in an effort to select a state bird.

The California quail is a very strong contender for this high office, although the Red-Shafted Flicker is showing surprising popularity. The children seem to prefer this cliffed woodpecker. He is well known to them, for he spends much of his time in their gardens eating ants. Brown is his general color, with big black spots on the breast, a black crescent on his chest, a red "mustache" and black streaks on his back.

CHEESE IN SOUP
Keep small pieces of left-over cheese. Grated it is excellent for giving taste to vegetables and cream soups and makes a tasty addition to a salad that might otherwise be flat.

PREP PLAYOFF BAN MAY BE REMOVED

New Elimination Series Planned By Rickard

JIM MALONEY, O'KELLY CLASH IN FIRST BOUT

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Something's got to be done about the heavyweights to get them eliminated and Tex Rickard gathered four wise and wary men around a luncheon table today for that very purpose.

It was the first meeting of members of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy committee members and Rickard asked them to make a rule forcing all the contenders to enter an elimination tournament and fight it out for the vacant heavy-weight title.

Besides Rickard, the committee is composed of John McEtee Bowman, hotel owner; Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, Bernard Gimbel, merchant millionaire and close friend of Gene Tunney, and Herbert Bayard Swope, editor of the New York World.

When a fellow like Jim Maloney is back knocking at the door of the heavyweight elimination tournament, the situation could hardly be what one would describe as ideal.

Maloney, knocked out by Jack Sharkey, George Godfrey and Tom Heeney less than two years ago, fights Con O'Kelly, Irish importation, in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

And if he wins who can deny him a place in the tournament? Sharkey knocked out Maloney in five rounds in his climb to a match with Dempsey and everyone wrote Maloney out of the heavy-weight picture.

Maloney is an 8 to 5 favorite, but many shrewd boxing men who have watched O'Kelly closely in the only two bouts he's had in this country believe the latter has what it takes to get Maloney out of the way.

Rickard, explaining the present difficulties among the heavyweights, said, "They all want to fight Risko and then meet Dempsey."

Everyone figures Risko, who made so much trouble last winter, is through as a dangerous fighter and it looks like everyone is almost right. Godfrey's body punches did it, they say.

Trojans Nose Out Arizona Quintet
TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Southern California defeated the University of Arizona basketball squad 25 to 21 in the first of a two-game series here last night. The Wildcats staged a desperate rally during the final stages of the game and for a time threatened to overtake the Trojans.

North Dakota Off On Basketball Tour
URBANA, Ill., Dec. 20.—Illinois university's basketball team tonight will play North Dakota's touring cagers, who will traverse 5500 miles before returning to Grand Forks.

Captains Of S. A. Eleven Ace Scholars

Both the captain and captain-elect of Santa Ana high school's football squad are high honor students, records for the institution disclose.

Roger ("Doc") Hearn, who piloted the Saints during the late deceased season, was rated as the most active and energetic leader of all times here, but Hearn still found time to make the Honor Society this term.

Only the finest all-around students ever are elected to the organization entry to which is governed largely by class room proficiency.

Bruce Tarver, who will lead the Santa Ana eleven next season, did not make the Honor Society this term but he has been a consistent member in the past and his marks were correspondingly high this year too.

NEW PRO CLUB HEAD OUTLINES BOXING PLANS

BY RINGSIDER

One more big amateur show and then the Orange County Athletic club will be ready to plunge in on the task of promoting legitimate, state-supervised professional boxing, Henry T. Foust, president, said today.

"We were not greatly surprised when the state boxing commission trained its 'big guns' on the amateur game," Foust stated. "In fact, we saw it coming more than a month ago and made our preparations to meet it properly. There are many advantages linked up with the amateur sport but in the long run there seems no doubt but that the professional game, directed by state representatives and with a certain percentage of each intake going to disabled war veterans, is more satisfactory."

End Season Next Week
The Orange County Athletic club will close its amateur season after next Wednesday night's program which we intend to make a banner one.

"Our main event will be a return engagement for the Western Amateur Athletic association held between Leo Hernandez, the champion, and Zenaydo Chavez, titleholder. Young Bobby La Salle will be on the card and so will several other of Santa Ana's favorite amateur boys."

"We are not absolutely certain when our first professional show will be held but it may be on Friday night, January 4. We understand that the commission wants us to operate on Fridays and that will be o.k. with us."

Four Rounders Favored
"You may say for us that at the beginning we will hold four-round pro matches with the probability of a six-round main event. From time to time we expect to finish up with eight or ten round bouts when the attractions warrant. We are anxious to obtain the best possible talent and will continue to do all possible to accommodate the boxing following of the county."

Meanwhile, Inspector Bill Bomb of the state boxing commission was going about the task of notifying the district attorneys of all counties in the state that the commission would appreciate their co-operation and that of other county law enforcement agencies in the closing after January 1 of all so-called amateur clubs which, Bomb said, are operating in direct violation of the law if they charge admission.

Babe Will Speak On Radio Sunday

The talk will start at 8:15 p. m. and Ruth is expected to discuss baseball matters especially interesting to boys.

Jones Returns To Golf Links Soon
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 21.—Bobby Jones, national amateur champion, will make his first appearance in a golf match in many months here Sunday, Dec. 30. He will play in an exhibition for the benefit of the student fund of the University of Miami.

THE BEST PITCHER IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

WALSH THINKS YANKS WILL BE LUCKY TO WIN PENNANT AGAIN UNLESS ROOKIES PROVE CLASS

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—By actual count, meaning that no one has the slightest idea about it, there probably aren't more than eight managers in the American league, besides Miller Huggins. The eighth party who doesn't think so is a guy who maybe just doesn't think at all and, if you think that sound like me, myself, the writer, you are welcome to make the most of it.

Thinking very thoughtlessly, I, field executive in all baseball, have come to believe that, if the Yankees are to win again next season, they will have to be somewhat lucky or the other clubs will have to be somewhat forgoresome or maybe both. Unless two or more of a half dozen developments take place, the New York Yankees will find that they have made the good fight, they have kept the faith and they are through.

Too many people, I think—thus breaking the habit of a life time—are inspired by the vision of the Yankees rampaging over the St. Louis Cardinals in the last world series. That was an incident, not a permanent demonstration. Huggins himself is proving that he feels this way about it. When he finds he can't palm a player off as trading material, he simply throws the man away as one who casts off an old shoe that has served its purpose.

Too many people remember this series and forget the collapse of the Yankees during the late season of 1928. No one remembered, either, the spectacle of the 1914 Athletics staggering home like a husband and father, until after this one great team had blown four straight to the Braves.

Huggins is quite a man for shoring up sagging foundations between seasons, as witness his demolition of the Yanks in 1925 and the winning of the 1926 pennant with a pair of kid keystones. But if he can reinforce and refurbish his household before the 1929 season starts, he will have proved himself to be the greatest

MIND OF LASSMAN, GRID AGE, CLOUDED
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Al Lassman is partially paralyzed and his mind is far from normal, friends of the N. Y. U. grid star who was injured in the game with Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh 28 days ago, said today.

Several of Lassman's acquaintances who have succeeded in running the gauntlet of guards who stand watch over him at French hospital doubt that he will ever completely regain his former health. These same friends say that his dream of becoming a heavyweight fighter and competing for Gene Tunney's vacated title has been blasted forever.

Doctors who are attending Lassman say there are several blood clots on his brain, but that they are slowly being dissipated. If, by any chance, these clots should harden he will be permanently crippled, they say.

HARD TO BEAT
Football teams at Southern California during the four years Howard Jones has coached there have won 36 games, lost five and tied two. Teams of Stanford, Notre Dame and Washington State only have beaten Jones' teams.

TEX CONFERS WITH SHARKEY'S MANAGER
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Whether Jack Sharkey will be Young Stribling's opponent in the proposed heavyweight bout at Miami Beach, Fla., on Feb. 26, may be determined here today at a conference between Promoter Tex Rickard and Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey.

Rickard declared Sharkey was a "chump fighter" after the Boston heavyweight declined to go through with the match, but later renewed his overtures and offered to let Sharkey bring his own referee.

Give Mullen $20,000 Job As Promoter

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Jim Mullen, who claims to have made his first dollar in Chicago by selling the city hall to a "rube," has signed as machmaker for the newly organized Coliseum Athletic club at a salary of $20,000 a year.

Mullen has been promoting boxing for many years. After failing to make money at his Aurora arena he confined his activities to amateur shows and the conducting of a gymnasium in Chicago until the legalizing of boxing in Illinois.

In the last year Mullen lost money on almost every show—including even such a "natural" as the Mickey Walker-Ace Hudkins bout. After one show Mullen was unable to pay the tax levied by the boxing commission and lost his promoter's license.

Abolition of the annual Southern California and State championships in all sports but track, swimming and tennis and the introduction of a divisional plan calling for only a single post-season contest is the cause of all the ado.

It is no secret that many high schools in the Southland are ready to cast stones at the C. I. F. edict when the proper time comes, probably in the spring, and according to reports there are reasons to believe that the ruling board of state prep athletics may reverse itself and return to the former elimination series.

The impossibility of determining a championship team without a playoff series was proved quite conclusively in the football season just closed. It was almost universally conceded that Alhambra, champion of the Coast Preparatory league, had the best team in the South, but there were several other schools with brilliant records, like Covina, Pomona, Fullerton, Los Angeles Poly and Burbank, which would never admit the Moors were superior.

In other years when no such "wonder team" as Alhambra appears on the scene the situation will be even more complicated, it is argued.

The C. I. F., however, is a determined body and what it says usually goes. Often there has been pressure brought to bear from outside influences but none ever succeeded to make the officials change their minds or matters. There probably won't be this time unless the C. I. U. C. SQUAD IN PASADENA FOR JAN. 1 TUSSLE
PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 21.—The University of California football squad arrived here today from Berkeley and held its first practice session preparatory to representing the Far West in the annual Tournament of Roses intersectional clash.

Coach "Nibs" Price brought 47 confident Golden Bears into town with him. He announced that after today two workouts were scheduled daily. Such practices were necessary, he said, because his men had been engaged recently in taking examinations and had neglected football.

The undefeated Georgia Tech team, opponent of California, is expected to reach here Sunday.

GOLDEN TORNADO REACHES NEW ORLEANS
NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 21.—Tech's Golden Tornado roared into New Orleans in the form of two special cars loaded with 31 members of the South's champions early today.

Friday will see them reach the plains of Texas, one day nearer the Rose Bowl and the classic intersectional clash with the University of California Bears on New Years.

CHANGE CASABA COURT
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—The basketball game between the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of North Dakota, scheduled for January 4, will be played at the Olympic here, it was announced today.

SCHOOLS IRKED AT LIMITATION OF PAST YEAR

Rumblings of dissatisfaction were being heard over Southern California today as the first campaign without a titular playoff tournament between various interscholastic champions closed with the Christmas holidays.

Abolition of the annual Southern California and State championships in all sports but track, swimming and tennis and the introduction of a divisional plan calling for only a single post-season contest is the cause of all the ado.

It is no secret that many high schools in the Southland are ready to cast stones at the C. I. F. edict when the proper time comes, probably in the spring, and according to reports there are reasons to believe that the ruling board of state prep athletics may reverse itself and return to the former elimination series.

The impossibility of determining a championship team without a playoff series was proved quite conclusively in the football season just closed. It was almost universally conceded that Alhambra, champion of the Coast Preparatory league, had the best team in the South, but there were several other schools with brilliant records, like Covina, Pomona, Fullerton, Los Angeles Poly and Burbank, which would never admit the Moors were superior.

In other years when no such "wonder team" as Alhambra appears on the scene the situation will be even more complicated, it is argued.

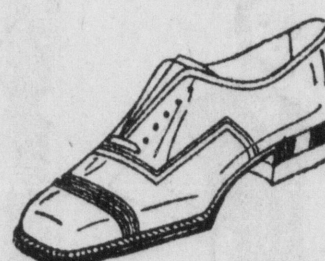

The C. I. F., however, is a determined body and what it says usually goes. Often there has been pressure brought to bear from outside influences but none ever succeeded to make the officials change their minds or matters. There probably won't be this time unless the C. I. F. representatives themselves feel their restrictions are unfair.

ALL-STARS PRACTICE ON STANFORD 'FARM'

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—The Eastern All-Star gridgers today went "down on the farm" to Stanford, where they will remain a week in training for the East-West Shrine game here December 29. Since their arrival they have had several good workouts at Kzar stadium, where the game will be played.

The West team, which has been plowing up the dirt in Ewing field, today moved over to the stadium for practices, where the turf will be welcome to sore shoulders.

SHOE PITCHING CHAMP BEATEN BY HANDICAPS

"Putt" Mossman, the world's champion horseshoe pitcher, came, saw but only partially conquered Santa Ana's best yesterday.

The 22-year-old Iowan met defeat in two of his matches here but gave handicaps that proved too much for him. A number of horseshoe pitching followers crowded the courts on the city lot on Walnut street, between Parton and Flower streets, to see Mossman in action.

In his first test, the young champion played to make 25 before Ralph Otero could get 13 and lost although he missed his goal only a couple of points. Then he pitched Lawrence Fairman and J. Huber, two of the best shooters in the city and gave them four shoes to his two. Again Mossman lost, 25 to 18. He presented his conquerors with a pair of his official shoes.

Thoroughly warmed up to his task by then, Mossman decisively defeated Otero, 25 to 6, although he shot blindfolded.

After his matches Mossman demonstrated a series of trick and fancy shots and acrobatic feats. They were well received.

Mossman is on a motor tour that will take him to every state in the Union as well as Canada before he returns to his home at Eldora, Ia. He goes to Florida next month to defend his championship in the national open tournament. Mossman was to give an exhibition in Tustin this afternoon and play in Whittier tonight.

Ralph Greenleaf Defends His Cue Dominance Again

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Ralph Greenleaf, of the New York, national pocket billiard champion, will defend his dominance tonight in a "playoff" with Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y. The playoff is the result of a protest issued by Taberski while playing against Greenleaf in the recent world title three cushion and pocket billiard tournament.

It is possible for the play off to result in a tie for the world's crown. Greenleaf must win to maintain clear title to his championship. Because of the controversy that arose between Greenleaf and Taberski during the tournament match, a new referee will handle tonight's game.

LAYTON IS CROWNED BILLIARD CHAMPION

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Johnny Layton, Missouri cue wizard, is the world champion three cushion billiard player today, having defeated Willie Hoppe, veteran of the green cloth, 50 to 23, last night in the finals of the international tournament here.

The pocket billiard title still was undecided. The Greenleaf-Taberski match which ended yesterday when Taberski quit the final game because of what he called unfair tactics, was scheduled for replay Friday night from the point where it was stopped.

Layton began his championship match by winning the bank and making one three cushion from the spot. He followed with a run of seven and scored in each of the next nine innings, only two of them being singles and one a run of nine.

After the first ten innings Hoppe, who was out after the only billiard honor he has not held, didn't have a chance against the deadly accuracy of the Missourian. Hoppe played what ordinarily would have been championship billiards, averaging almost one each inning in the 25 innings.

San Clemente To Play Tustin Five

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 21.—The San Clemente basketball team will tangle with a Tustin quintet at Tustin tonight. It will be the second game for the Dons who lost to the Pacific Coast club at Long Beach last Friday by an overwhelming score.

Frank Holborow will start with Floyd MacWhorter at guard, Kenneth Lee at the other guard post, King Smalhouse at center and Clarence Quinn and Bob Callis at forwards. Harold Brown, Clarence Watkins, Claude Carr and Jim Bryant will be the substitutes.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 21.—Lewis ("Hip") Dickerson, assistant coach at Oregon State college died here early today as the result of being stabbed in the back by Lanza Bryant in a quarrel over a girl early last Monday.

The stabbing affray took place shortly after Dickerson and the girl had left a restaurant where she was employed. Bryant is said to have followed the couple and to have forced an argument. In the fight while hollered Bryant drew a knife and plunged it into Dickerson's back. The blade pierced his lung.

Charges of first degree murder will be filed against Bryant, now held in the county jail here.

ITALY PLANS PENALTY FOR TAX EVADERS

ROME, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The tax-collecting system of Italy is to be tightened up by the introduction of heavy penalties on those who make false returns or no returns at all of their income tax. These penalties will amount to one-third of the amount of the tax due for a year and a fine ranging from 100 to 2000 lire.

Until the introduction of the recent measure, persons who failed to make a return of their income tax to the taxing authorities were not liable to any punishment. If their non-compliance with the law was discovered, they were held to pay arrears of tax, but no penalty was applied to them.

As a result, a large number of persons, especially among private citizens living on their means, paid no income tax at all. Business firms and companies found it difficult to escape their share of the income tax. The new law goes into force at once, and is expected to bring many millions of lire to the state.

Typists are said to be especially subject to illness, owing to the monotony of their work, the noise of the machines and the cramped positions they adopt while at work.

YOUTH JAILED ON BAD CHECK COUNT

J. M. Souza, 19, of Porterville, was lodged in the county jail today following a preliminary hearing on a bad check charge at which he was bound over to the superior court by the Anaheim justice court.

Bail was set at $2500, which Souza failed to make. Since his arrest Officer Mathews, of Artesia, is said to have reported that Souza had passed checks in that community on which complaints were made.

SEES NATION ON VERGE OF ART ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—America is on the verge of the most remarkable development in the history of art, declares H. W. Kent, secretary of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in his annual summary of the year's artistic achievements and promises.

The revolution which he predicts is the putting of art on a democratic basis, through the combined influence of American mass production and the general growth of culture resulting from American emphasis on universal education.

"This does not in any sense imply a cheapening of art," says Mr. Kent in the Woman's Home Companion. "It means an enriching of our national life. The woman who shows interest and taste even in the selection of pots and pans is today exercising an artistic appreciation which will demand increasingly lovely things for its satisfaction."

"Art is just as inevitable and as natural a human expression as language or music, and as such it must be geared to the present if it is to serve the future. We are now living in an exciting day and generation, and we can no more relegate our artistic expression to the museum and forget it than we can dismiss language as something which affects only the grammarians."

"Much of the present confusion of thought is cleared up if we substitute for 'modern art' the more exact term 'contemporary design.' The aim of art is to design things in keeping with the life we are living rather than merely to create a new artistic pose. Indeed, the great strength of the present movement lies in its sincerity, its lack of artificiality and its directness of purpose."

LAGUNA BEACH MAY REGULATE ARCHITECTURE

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 21.—Whether the city should have supervision of architecture, what should be done about undedicated streets, and whether it is advisable to make Goff street a 20-foot alley instead of a 40-foot street as at present consumed much of the council's time Wednesday evening, with no decisions made on any of the questions. Tentative ordinances regarding cleaning lots and the number of buildings to be placed on residential lots also came up for discussion without action.

The project of a committee operating under council jurisdiction before which plans for business buildings must be placed came before the city fathers from the chamber of commerce, which urges this action in the interests of better harmony in construction. Santa Barbara's achievements along this line were pointed out as an example of what might be done.

Discussion went into the difficulties of enforcing such an act, the trespass on the rights of individuals to express their tastes and preferences, the authority with which such a commission might be clothed, and the extent to which such a plan might be carried. From this it went into the need of planning the city as a whole so that there would be a definite design on which to work. Finally, the city attorney was instructed to draw up a resolution to be presented at a January meeting.

Whether narrowing Goff street by taking a 10-foot strip from each side would be an advantage or not was debated when George E. Thompson opposed it as a property owner and also because he thought that the street was needed as parking space for the American Legion hall at the intersection of Goff and Legion streets.

Thompson also drew from the city engineer the information that the next street north, Aliso street, might have to be widened to 50 feet to conform with its extension. Catalina street, which is now 50 feet wide, he thought that the property owners on the latter thoroughfare were not aware of the possibility of widening their street and that when it became known to them their attitude on the proposed Goff street change might be quite different.

Differences of opinion arose as to the attitude of the Legion itself on the matter. Finally, Mayor Frank B. Champion asked that the council act as a committee of the whole Saturday afternoon and go over the property and acquaint itself with conditions before taking any action.

New Heads Of Santa Ana Realty Board Takes Office

STATE CHIEFS
ARE PRESENT AT INAUGURAL

The Santa Ana Realty board today entered upon another year of activity with new officers at the helm, following installation ceremonies at the ninth annual inaugural banquet and ball held last night at St. Ann's Inn. The occasion was marked by the presence of high officials in the California Real Estate association, the state real estate commissioner and representatives of other boards in the county.

Asa Hoffman, business man of this community back in the early days of Santa Ana and today one of the outstanding realtors in this city, is the man who will direct the destinies of the organization for the coming year and he was officially inducted into office last night by Stephen Barnson, state real estate commissioner. John Knox, vice president, and Herb Allemen, secretary, were other officers present to be officially pledged by the commissioner. Other officers of the board are J. Wiley Harris and W. L. Jordan, vice presidents; M. J. Oleson, treasurer; Carl Mock, F. C. Pope, E. A. White and J. Wiley Harris, directors.

Greet New State Head
The installation ceremonies offered Orange county realtors and their wives an opportunity to greet James Bradley Clayton, of San Jose, who was elected president of the California Real Estate association in Sacramento and who will assume the duties of president of the largest association of realtors in the world on January 1.

In introducing the president-elect, E. A. White, a former president of the state association, referred to the outstanding service Bradley had rendered the association as chairman of the farm lands division, and later in the evening Glenn D. Williamson, secretary of the state association, pointed out that the new president represents the third generation of realtors in his family.

After paying tribute to the energetic efforts of F. C. Pope, as vice president, in promotion of realty board organizations in the twelfth district, and to White for the services he has given realtors of the state, Bradley outlined proposed amendments to the state real estate act to be submitted at the coming meeting of the legislature. He gave emphasis to the declaration that through the California Real Estate association realtors of California are year by year improving the status of real estate operations and at the same time developing the highest type of sincere and honest brokers and salesmen—"a protection to the property buying public."

"Real progress has been made in efforts of the association to put the real estate business on a clean, wholesome basis," Clayton said, in pointing out that brokers now are required to take an examination before being given a license to operate in the state and that in proposed new legislation examination will be required of applicants for permits to operate as salesmen. Another amendment to the real estate act will provide that pro-

Mate Disappears,
Charges Wife In
Suit For Divorce

Married life wasn't what A. Rex Hawkins expected it to be, according to a divorce complaint which had been filed today. But the complaint was filed by his wife, Grace Hawkins, who alleged that her husband had deserted her on December 15.

"I don't see how I can stand it to live with you. I am getting tired of being married. Married life isn't what I expected it to be," Mrs. Hawkins' complaint said her husband told her.

Last Saturday, according to the complaint, Hawkins told his wife he was going and that he wasn't coming back. And he hasn't reappeared, the complaint said.

They were married in November, 1927.

Traditions and modernism thrive hand in hand in Japan's capital, but the west has a grip which is fast squeezing out Oriental romance. It is creating a Japanese Paris in the heart of Tokyo while age-old beliefs and usages still run strong in the undercurrents.

In the center of town there is a new five-story restaurant built in the Occidental manner. Except for a small Japanese section it is devoted to foreign food and drink. Above the reproduction of a Japanese village on the roof is a tower where one gets an interesting impression of the city.

Close at hand lies the financial district, built of steel, stone and bricks, with some new bank buildings which would do credit to Wall Street—Ionic columns, massive bronze doors and granite blocks. Beyond are fine department stores, great new theaters, big hotels, with the modern things of the U. S. A. and more. Through the principal avenues, street cars, automobiles and taxis move at rapid pace.

KINDERGARTEN
CHILDREN GIVE LIONS PROGRAM

Kindergarten children, under the direction of Miss Lindy J. Mueller, kindergarten teacher in Lowell school, yesterday gave a surprise program at the meeting of the Lions club.

The presence of the little tots and the program of songs and recitations were particularly appropriate to the Christmas meeting of the club. The cleverness of the little entertainers in presentation of their various numbers excited the admiration and applause of the Lions.

And while the faces of the children beamed with delight at their successful entertainment of adults, their expressions changed to surprise when Santa Claus bounded into the dining room at St. Ann's Inn at the conclusion of the kindergarten program. In the person of Fred Wilde, Santa Claus greeted the children, asked them a number of questions and cautioned them to go to bed early Christmas eve and not to remain awake in anticipation of glimpsing Santa when he comes down the chimney. St. Nicholas gave each child a present.

A Christmas tree in the room and a basketful of toys, contributed by members as an admission fee to the luncheon, was a fitting background for the appearance and program of the children. The surprise program was developed by Kenneth Morrison, chairman. The toys given for admission were distributed to the members and later were reassembled in preparation for sending them to the children in the Orange County Health camp.

The program given by the children was as follows:
Greetings, Sammy Campbell; "I Saved My Cake for Santa Claus," class; Christmas recitation, George Pagenkopp; "Jingle, Jingle, Jingle Tiny Bells," class; recitation of the 23rd psalm, Dorris Lorraine Temple; recitation, Bobby Pakenkopp; "Jolly, Jolly Santa Claus," class; orchestra, directed by Marshall Nelson; recitation, "Ned's Dream," Gilbert Lee Bradford.

PLANNING FOR COUNTY TOPIC
IN BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Dec. 21.—General plans for the beautification of Southern California, including discussion of tree planting along highways, the preservation of wild flowers and of beach frontage and the beautification of unsightly spots, featured a meeting of the Woman's club here yesterday afternoon. The discussion followed a talk on the importance of county planning by Thomas Pickerrill, secretary of the Placencia Chamber of Commerce and advocate of a county planning commission.

Pickerrill explained the economy of a comprehensive planning program, told how the planning proposition would stabilize land values, add to the attractiveness of the county and assist the growth of the county. Women of the club expressed themselves as favorable to the planning matter after the talk. Mrs. William Gunby was chairman of the program committee.

Santa Ana Country Club Is Setting For Party

The Santa Ana country club, say with cotoneaster and other signs of the approach of Christmas, was the setting last night of a delightful dinner party given for employees of the Orange County Title company by the management of that organization.

Graceful sprays of cotoneaster centered the long table where the guests were seated for the dinner which included turkey as well as other traditional dishes of the Christmas season.

At the conclusion of the dinner George A. Parker, secretary of the company, gave an interesting talk on the early history of the title business in this county. He also told of the organization of the Orange county title company as the story was related to him by his father, C. E. Parker, president of the company, who was unable to be present at the dinner.

Rex Kennedy, assistant secretary, who is in charge of the searching department, was introduced and he gave an inspiring talk on co-operation and relations between the public and the company.

The evening hours were spent in dancing and playing cards.

Employees of the company who were present for the happy affair were: Harvey A. Gardner, Miss Dorothy Thurston, Bernard D. Parker, Miss Marie Rudolph, Rex Kennedy, Miss Dorothy Beckman, Chester W. ## The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Prescribing Castor Oil and Senna Tea

Keep a bottle of castor oil and some senna tea conveniently at hand for the small fry while foods are the order of the day.

Castor oil need not be dreaded by anyone if it is taken in hot milk. Heat the milk below the scalding point—about 1/3 cup—add the dose of oil and beat the oil and milk until they are thoroughly mixed. Then let the sufferer swallow it quickly. The milk covers the taste of the oil and the heat makes it slide down like magic.

Senna Tea, a good old standby, is for less drastic measures and should be given at night in doses of 1/4 to 1/2 glass. Steep the leaves in boiling water, strain off and add lemon juice and a little sugar. Taken cold, it is quite palatable.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Rabbit Shortcake
1 large rabbit
flour for dredging
4 tablespoons bacon fat
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 quarts soup stock
Seasonings of bay leaf and mace

2/3 cup butter
2/3 cup flour
Salt and pepper
Ripe olives and parsley
Biscuit dough for shortcakes

Two quarts of soup stock may not be available but there is nothing wrong with using bouillon cubes to make the stock, is there? You will need five of them to two quarts of boiling water.

Buy the rabbit with an eye to the number you have to serve: Six people will eat a 3-pound rabbit, perhaps more. Clean the rabbit and cut in pieces for frying, dredge it in flour and slowly fry brown in the bacon fat, add the onion and cook a few minutes longer. Put it into a large kettle and add the broth, bay leaf and a little powdered mace. Cover and cook for an hour or until tender. Strain the broth and pick all the bones out of the meat. Cut the meat in smaller portions.

Reheat the broth, blend the flour and butter and make a good rich gravy with it, taste, then season highly with salt, pepper and paprika. Add the rabbit and keep hot until ready to serve.

Make a nice biscuit dough, cut large biscuits and bake quickly; split apart and cover with a generous portion of the meat and gravy, put a couple of ripe olives in the center of each biscuit-half and a sprinkle of parsley to garnish—then serve.

The meat and gravy part has a calorie total of 3525, the biscuits 1300. With a grand total of 4825 and six portions the individual total is somewhat astounding.... 800 odd calories.

If you select Rabbit Shortcake for dinner soon I am quite sure you will need the digestive aid of apples in some form.

Why not send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the current leaflet, AN APPLE A DAY?

No holiday dinner is complete without a good fruit punch, served icy cold, along with the meat course. Tomorrow's recipe will be Spiced Apple Punch.

ANN MEREDITH.

Dinner and Bridge Are Enjoyed By Guests

Miss Mildred Liveness and Mrs. Mildred Fletcher entertained a group of friends recently at their pretty home at 401 Harwood place when a delicious dinner and an evening at cards was enjoyed.

Gay Christmas decorations marked the table appointments and were carried out in the lovely December flowers used in the living room.

When bridge scores were added at the end of a happy evening it was found that Miss Beatrice Boyd was high and she was presented with an appropriate gift.

Guests Enjoy Dinner As Preliminary To Bridge

For several years past, it has been the pleasant custom of the feminine members of The Register "family," to meet for an evening of bridge and a gift exchange as one of the features of the Christmas holidays, but it remained for Miss Helen Lutz and Miss Louise Stephenson to do that "something different" which is always such a joy to guests, and make this year's party, a dinner bridge.

Last night was the date selected for the affair, and the big home of the Terry E. Stephenson's at 1522 North Broadway, the scene, with Mrs. Stephenson aiding her niece and Miss Lutz in dispensing hospitality. The drawing-room with its evergreen wreaths and holly berries and a gaily decorated Christmas tree, made attractive setting for the small tables arranged with scarlet candles and harmonizing appointments for the serving of the dinner menu.

After the ices, little home-made cakes and coffee of the final course had been enjoyed, it was the matter of but a moment to remove the dinner linen and find the tables all in readiness for bridge. Mrs. Eleanor Elliott and Mrs. Mildred Fletcher made the special scores of the evening, so at the time the Christmas tree was denuded of its gifts, received a double share. A limit had been set on the amount to be spent in the gift exchange, but the results were so enjoyable and the gifts so varied, that one of the guests was heard to express a wish that everyone might have had her name!

Bidden to the "family" affair by Miss Lutz and Miss Stephenson, were the Misses Naomi Keller, Katherine Lucas, Cora Holt, Mesdames Loyal K. King, Calvin Gilbert, Cecil H. Drake, Marian Knight, J. F. Adams, Amsel McBroom, Mildred Fletcher, Troy Smith and Eleanor Elliott.

College Language Clubs Celebrate Holiday Season

Language clubs of the Santa Ana junior college have been active during the past week in celebrating the approaching Christmas day.

Tuesday night was a gala evening for students of German, as it was then that they gathered at the home of Paul Mueller on Cambridge street in Orange for their Christmas party. An interesting game said to resemble the actions of a flea offered its amusement throughout the evening. German songs were sung and late in the evening gifts were distributed by Louis Romoff who played the role of Santa Claus.

Luncheon instead of class recitation added a very welcome variation to members of one class of students who are learning the rudiments of the French language. Poinsettias and holly made a pretty setting for the event. While luncheon was served by the Misses Anna Pickering, Dorcas Thompson, and Marian Garber, plays which had previously been written by members of the class were acted out and Miss Florence Caverly read the story of the birth of Jesus from the book of "Luke." Guest of the students were McKee Fisk and D. K. Hammond.

Mrs. James H. Shaw of Tujunga and Miss Mary Dean of Bloomington, Illinois.

Among late arrivals are the beautiful prints and etchings, framed as only The Summer Shop frames them.

The presents received by Prof. O. S. Johnston, Miss P. Drews, and Prof. C. M. Drake, instructors at the Business Institute, were cause for great amusement and glee on the part of the student-body. Among the gifts received were jumping-jacks, dolls, monkeys, candy, play-cards, and many other toys of varied description.

Junior College Girls Are Guests at Dinner

Jolly indeed was the merry evening of bridge enjoyed last night by a group of junior college girls at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Owens, 126 Owens drive, when their daughter, Miss Clara Kate Owens was hostess.

Dinner was served at one large table which was centered with a miniature Christmas tree set in a base of cotoneaster. Red candles, silver bells and other gay reminders of the Christmas holiday completed the attractive table appointments.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

We women are quite accustomed to being told that our vote has not yet effected the world of politics, though both parties did seem to get excited about "the woman vote" in the last election.

We are quite accustomed to the tale that we are failures as home-makers these modern days, and now comes the last straw in the pronouncement that women mean really nothing to the world of business outside the home either.

One Anne Armstrong, who seems to have some business experience pedigree, goes on on this tangent in the current "Harpers." She claims that the business woman is a Miss or Mrs. Babbitt, much concerned with back-slapping and hand-shaking, and calling her colleagues by their first names and concerned with women's clubs and emblems and official state flowers and rooters' dinners. Successful business women are inclined to be arrogant, she says, and they lack culture. What's more, the whole flock of business women has developed no great leader, no dynamic individual, no crusading spirit, she claims.

So they expect all that of "business women," too, do they? She must not only earn her living, but she must be humble and cultured and contribute a great leader? Just what does society demand of the business man? If it demands, does it get what it asks anymore than from the business woman?

The same defense holds here as in the world of politics. Remember lady, that we're new at the game. Give us time!

THE POOR TURK!

Turkey is seriously considering making its 70,000 bachelors "pony up" by levying a special tax on bachelors. It explains that the government needs the money and that, besides, depopulation problems need more married men.

Life must be bewildering to the Turk. First they make his harem illegal; then they spank him for having none.

Turkey isn't the only country concerned with what is termed the easy life of the unwed. Italy taxes its bachelors, and other countries are considering it. Nature seems to have a way of seeing to it that most adult human beings, married or single, get their share of responsibilities. A canvass of the unmarried would probably show that they are carrying economic and other responsibilities in about the same measure as the married.

WOMEN PREACHERS

New York has just ordained its first woman minister, a Miss Louise Eby. The Rev. Eby explains that the novelty of a woman minister is because of the many handicaps set against women who would enter this profession. She reminds us that the Episcopal church will not ordain women at all.

The scarcity of women ministers and the fact that this profession is hard for women to attain seems inconsistent in view of the fact that woman has ever been conceded "the preachy" sex.

Probably that's just the point. Her preachments are so apt and to the point that the male world prefers to discourage her practicing outside what she does so well in private circles. Enough's as good as a feast!

BURGLAR ALARM

Have you heard of the latest trick to outwit the burglar when the family's away? Turn on the radio, snap on the reading lamp, and go away, knowing that no burglar will take a chance on the family at home with the radio. And now that the tip's out, the scheme's spoiled!

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

All children get hurt in one way or another many times over.

Don't get nervous, mother, and lose your head. Children can stand a lot of bumping and bruising.

Bad cuts need a little more than kissing. In themselves they may not amount to much but wherever the skin is broken steps should be taken instantly to prevent blood poisoning. You never can tell what germ is hanging around on grubby little hands or knees ready to jump into the opening and cause damage.

Don't wash a wound and then put on the antiseptic afterward. Reverse it. Put tincture of iodine on right away and wash it out later. The other way you are likely to wash dirt and germs into the cut. The water you use on a cut or wound should be boiled and cooled if possible.

In big cuts it is still more necessary to keep them free of germs. Cut away all clothing near the wound. Don't handle the wound until your own hands are thoroughly scrubbed and dipped in some antiseptic solution. But first, if the bleeding is bad, try to control it by pressing on the flesh around the wound.

Do Not Handle Wound
The wound should be handled as little as possible. The best thing is to get a doctor at once. But if he is not available, the treatment of iodine and sterilized water may be followed. Be very careful about the kind of a pad or bandage you put over it. The soft cotton cloth or gauze should be boiled and quickly dried, before it touches the wound. Don't allow it to touch anything after the boiling. Even the scissors should be dipped in antiseptic solution and scrubbed. Cleanliness and sterilization are absolutely necessary. Watch a wound if you are attending to it yourself—even a small one. If there is any sign of pain near it, or red streaks, or pus, when enough time has been allowed for reasonable healing to begin, don't waste a second. Get a doctor at once. Blood poisoning is the one thing you can't afford to take a chance on.

There are excellent balms for burns but a good substitute is a solution of "plaster" of baking soda, or the same of boric acid, applied right on the burn.

All dressing must be looked after and changed daily. And the same cleanliness must be observed at each dressing for both cuts and burns.

In severe bruises, cloths wrung out of hot or cold water may be applied, or cracked ice wrapped in a cloth.

Alcohol, arnica, or witch haze diluted, are very comforting. If the skin is broken treat it as a cut.

USEFUL CLOCK

Alarm clocks can save the housewife much worry if she will use it for such things as timing a cake, catching a train, taking medicine, or tending the furnace.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites were now quite vexed. "I wonder what we will do next," said Scouty. "We have finished testing things for girls and boys. There's not a thing that we've found wrong. The carts with wheels run right along. The candy canes are made, and drums and horns make lots of noise."

"Oh, well, I guess that ends our fun," said Clowny. "All the work is done. Come on, let's find a cozy place and all sit down a while. For work I really was inspired, but now I must admit I'm tired. I guess I've done more than the rest." This made the Tinies smile.

No sooner had they stopped to rest, when Santa shouted, "I'll be blest! I guess you Tinies think you're through, but that's where you are wrong. I have one other job for you. Come on, it won't take long to do. This time it is the sort of work that makes me fellows strong."

"Oh, my, that doesn't sound so good, and I'd sneak from this if I could," said Clowny. But he trailed along as Santa led the way. Out in the open they soon found a wondrous thing upon the ground. "Oh, goodness gracious," Copy cried. "It's Santa's great big sleigh."

"And now you Tinies go ahead and clean it up real nicely. There are sponges near at hand. When I start on my trip, you see, I want it clean as clean can be." "All right," replied the Tinies. "We'll soon have it looking grand."

"Here's where the dirt and rust spots sail," said Copy, as he grabbed a pail. "I'll gladly do the washing, and you all can rub it dry." And so they worked with all their might, until the sleigh was shining bright. And thus the sleigh was ready for its trip off through the sky.

EAT THE THEATRE

WEST COAST-WALKER

There is a young "cub" reporter on a prominent Los Angeles newspaper, who by his own request will never again "cover" the various motion picture studios in Hollywood.

The "cub" newspaperman was told by his city editor to go out to the Paramount studio and interview Adolphe Menjou and Kathryn Carver, who had returned to Hollywood only three days before from their honeymoon.

The young man was quite awestricken by the sight that greeted him at the studio what with the numerous "prop" men scurrying back and forth and the reels of electrician's wire that lay strewn about. Also the presence of several large lights helped to befuddle the young man.

Reporter Gets a Surprise
As he made his way through this maze his eyes suddenly beheld a sight that fairly made the eyes pop from his head. There was the star, Adolphe Menjou, in the arms of a woman he knew was not Mrs. Menjou. From his point of view he could see no one else nor hear the grizzling of the camera which was hidden from his view. Only one thought flashed through his mind—here was a red hot story of Hollywood's latest romance going on the rocks!

In his excitement he didn't wait to investigate but ran back to the studio gate and breathlessly phoned in what he saw to his city editor. Now, as good as the story might seem, the city editor was frankly skeptical of any such goings on, and he called the Paramount publicity department for confirmation of the "rumor." It was hastily explained that what the reporter had seen was a "bit" in the script of Menjou's latest picture.

Really Highlight of Film
What the reporter saw is one of the highlights of "His Private Life," in which Adolphe Menjou is cast again as the swank, sophisticated Parisian boulevardier, the type of role that won him so much fame. It is a comedy-drama, this new picture, and features Menjou's bride, Kathryn Carver, in the leading feminine role opposite the star. Margaret Livingston is the "vamp" and the "other woman." She plays an important part in the development of the story. The film was directed by Frank Tuttle from an original story by Ernest Vajda and Keene Thompson and is the feature attraction at the Walker theatre.

YOST BROADWAY

The photodrama, "Phyllis of the Follies," which will open at the Yost Broadway theatre tonight, is heralded as one of those charming, sophisticated pictures which are the delight of motion picture audiences.

The story concerns a wealthy young society man who has a falling for Follies girls. He walks right out of one breach of promise suit into another mix-up, to the great consternation of his lawyer. Finally he falls hard for another Follies girl whom, he later learns is the lawyer's wife. She and her bosom companion, still another Follies girl, give him many hectic hours before he is finally cured.

Edmund Burns has the role of the Lotherlo, and Matt Moore is the lawyer. Alice Day is Phyllis, the Follies girl who finally nooses the hero with an altar halter. Lilian Tashman is the ex-Follies wife of the lawyer, and Duane Thompson is the last-but-one Follies beauty on the hero's list of entanglements.

The picture was directed by Ernest Laemmle, from an original story by Arthur Gregor. It has been lavishly produced and includes, besides back-stage and dressing-room shots of the Follies chorus, elaborate boudoir settings and sophisticated hotel scenes.

It is heralded as one of the smartest stage-society pictures of the year. It is supposed to give a remarkable insight into that curio of curios, a Follies girl's mind, said to be the most unaccountable, volatile and whimsical thing in the world.

IMMEDIATE CLEANING

Never hang a party dress that is spotted. Either remove it yourself or have it cleaned. Many spots can be taken out easily at first that are impossible to budge later.

MATTRESS HANDLES

Some day when there is not much work to do, an hour spent tugging handles on all the mattresses will bring satisfaction. Cut one-inch strips of heavy material, make loops big enough to slip the

PAPER LINED

Putting papers under carpets and linoleums is an old, but an excellent trick for winter. Also papers laid under mattresses keeps out much cold air.

MARKED RUBBERS

Children's rubbers should have their names written inside before they ever put them on. The whole name is preferable to initials and a better identification.

Seal Beach City Council Calls $50,000 Bond Election

WATER RATE AT SAN CLEMENTE SET BY BOARD

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 21.—Water will cost residents of San Clemente $2.50 for the first 1000 cubic feet or under, it was decided at last night's session of the San Clemente city council. A rate of 15 cents for every 100 cubic feet used thereafter was adopted. This rate, declared Thomas Murphine, mayor, was lower than any other city in Southern California the size of San Clemente.

An emergency water ordinance was passed at the session, based on the one used in Santa Ana. It is this ordinance which sets the price of water and the price of installation of meters. Service charges on meters will be $15 for three-quarter inch pipe plus the cost of the meter, $17.50 for one inch pipe plus the cost of meter, $25 for two-inch pipe plus the cost of meter and $15 for four-inch connection plus the cost of meter.

The council opened bids on meters and after adopting Los Angeles water specifications for water meters voted to name the meter which will be installed here at the January 3 meeting.

Eight salesmen from meter companies were present at the session but were not called upon to talk. The city council, after an all-day session, met at night and then after opening the bids voted to name the meter at the January meeting.

Mayor Murphine instructed Ole Hanson Jr., commissioner of parks, to investigate the advisability of installing four barbecue pits, two at the north and two at the south end of the 1200 foot fishing and pleasure pier. If he found it feasible to install them he was instructed to make arrangements for their construction. This matter was brought up by Dan Mulholland, president of the San Clemente Chamber of Commerce.

City Engineer W. A. Ayer was instructed to get in touch with the Auto Club of Southern California in regard to securing stop signs for Avenida Del Mar. The street will become a boulevard within 30 days.

In his excitement following this slight mishap, Blakemore states that he stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake and lost control of his car.

CHINESE GROUP STILL CLINGS TO ODD BELIEF

By D. C. BESS

United Press Staff Correspondent PEKING, Dec. 21.—(UP)—The rapid growth of the "Buddhist Brotherhood of Sacred Soldiers of the Virtuous Way," and organization whose members believe bullets cannot wound or kill them, is described by a missionary who has just returned from a tour through Szechwan province in Central China.

The society is formed of civilians, chiefly farmers, who try to protect the people from bandits and lawless soldiers. They wear turbans, red puttees, a broad red belt and a red shas across the left shoulder.

One of the leaders told the missionary that a famous bandit leader named "Hair-lip Liu" recently captured some of their men. He asked for admission to the society for some of his men. They told him the men must first undergo a test to see if their heart was pure. So he appointed several men, and the society members hacked them with their swords, killing them.

The bandit became very angry, and ordered the society members' heads cut off. But to his astonishment, swords had no effect on them, and he released them in terror. This belief is similar to that held before the Boxer uprising in 1900.

The missionary says the society appears to be philanthropic. In villages threatened by bandits, every family is supposed to provide one son for the society, and they have successfully defended many towns. The warlord in Szechwan, Yang Sen, is reported to have offered $1 each for pairs of ears of the society's members.

PEACE HOPES BRIGHT, SAYS NOTED BRITON

By HENRY T. RUSSELL
(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by United Press. All rights reserved.)
LONDON, Dec. 21.—"Yes and it would be still better if we could get the feeling that aggressive war is unthinkable among nations," the Rt. Hon. Leopold Amery, Britain's secretary of state for Dominion affairs as well as colonial secretary, replied when asked if the world's outlook for permanent peace were favorable.

"There is that feeling," he added, "among the units of the British empire. Those units have no definite obligations toward one another yet the great war proved that they stood together, united for the common good. I do not value black and white agreements among nations as much as I do a better mutual understanding and a steadfast friendship between them. This friendship, I believe, cannot be too close. I think if it were developed it would lead to achievement of the feeling that aggressive war is unthinkable among them as it is among the various units of the British empire."

As he spoke, slowly but without any hesitation and smiling most of the while, the minister made his listener (the United Press correspondent) feel at home. Of small stature, with a contagiously jovial look on his face, he reclined in an armchair at the Dominion office in Downing street. Were it not for an extraordinarily tidy desk in front of him, one might have imagined oneself "consulting" a busy lawyer on international affairs. But for his very British accent he might have been an American.

The conversation lasted an hour. It dealt principally with the British empire and the peace problem. Also, after considerable coaxing, the secretary was induced to reveal a few incidents concerning his private life. He told of mountaineering accidents in which he has been involved, adding, a la Mark Twain: "But I have never been killed!"

Describing what he stated was Britain's need for her colonies: "Our problem is a peculiar one," he said, and then explained: "Not only are we an island and have to depend upon other portions of the empire for a great part of our supplies of food and raw materials, but as the empire is scattered all over the globe, it is essential for us to keep open communication between us. That we may help each other in time of difficulty, it is therefore necessary for us to maintain an adequate naval force. In contrast with this, of course, our military system is everywhere weak. It is as low as possible just because of the fact that we can rely upon our navy to help whenever necessary."

"Because the dominions and colonies are situated in many different places far distant from the mother country, we require numerous cruisers, not necessarily of high offensive capacity, to keep our communications and trade routes policed in case of necessity. Our position in this respect is somewhat comparable with that of a city wishing to organize a police force."

"Whereas 50 policemen might handle a given number of crooks in a certain small town, 10 times more officers would be required to protect the inhabitants of a larger city even though it contained no more crooks than did the smaller town. Another way of putting it would be this: Just as the strength of a police force depends upon the number of streets to be policed, so the number of cruiser units in a nation's navy must be largely determined by the number of sea-ways to be protected."

In this, the minister added, Britain's requirements were not the same as those of the United States.

"At Geneva," he continued, "Britain wanted to limit all but an agreed number of larger cruisers to 6-inch guns and 7000 tons in order to keep down expense and limit fighting power. The idea failed to secure general agreement. That is why we welcomed the recent Anglo-French naval proposals. There was no conception of forming a block policy against the United States; on the contrary, we welcomed them largely because we hoped that as they allowed for cruisers up to 10,000 tons even if only equipped with 6-inch guns, that would go a long way to meeting the United States who had urged that with their fewer naval bases small cruisers would not afford sufficient range."

"We were blamed for not preparing the ground at Geneva. Because we sounded out the powers before we published the Anglo-French proposals, we were, on the contrary, accused of secrecy."

"I think you will find that the real trouble in all this disarmament business is an over attention to detail. I wonder if it would not be wiser to leave the actual figures to the judgment of each country concerned and concentrate on creating an atmosphere of frank understanding. It seems to me that if we must approach numerical disarmament in a spirit of suspicion, then we had much better not do so at all."

"If the spirit of the Kellogg pact really animates nations, then it will either make actual disarmament schemes more feasible or, if the complexity of the situation is such that it should make disarmament by agreement impossible, then it will facilitate the necessary spirit of tolerance."

The minister then explained that he advocated a "moral relationship" among nations somewhat similar to that which, he said, exists among the units composing the British empire. This, he added, reminded him of how at private school he organized a sort of "League of small boys" against the bigger boys who bullied them. He offered prizes such as cigar ribbons to those who, by co-operating and pooling their strength, successfully resisted the attacks of the enemy. The campaign was successful, he said, because soon after its inauguration, the bullies stopped bullying.

When he is not busy at his office on empire matters Secretary Amery, except for occasional mountaineering trips, sailing and canoeing, spends his time reading or traveling about the empire. He has visited every dominion at least twice, some many times, both before and since he became dominions secretary. He has also visited many of the colonies. Much of his earlier traveling was done as a member of the staff of the Times, for which at one time he acted as assistant editor. The most recent was an official visit following which he wrote "The Empire in a New Era," a fascinating book which might almost be said to constitute a history of the British empire. The minister is also the author of the Times history of the South African war, in seven volumes.

Unlike the average tourist, the minister requires no interpreter on his travels. He speaks French, German and Italian fluently. His knowledge of Oriental languages is considerable. When making an official tour of Palestine and Iraq in 1925, he discussed Iraqi matters in Turkish with most of the leading Iraqis in Baghdad and made a long speech in Arabic to a gathering of 300 notables in Mosul. He also speaks modern Greek.

He is a great lover of the classics. He never goes on a journey abroad without a Homer which he reads almost as fast as the average Londoner reads English. Having a "photographic" memory, he can quote almost anywhere from Horace and many other classical authors.

When at school at Harrow he was the recipient of numerous prizes. Besides his literary achievements, however, he acquired the reputation of being the leading gymnast of the school and was a first rate boxer. Yet physically he is small and in this connection he told the following story of the first time he "met" Winston Churchill, now chancellor of the exchequer, formerly a schoolmate of the colonial secretary at Harrow:

"I was standing by the edge of the pool thinking of going in for a swim," he commenced with a broad smile on his face. "Suddenly, I was pushed into the water. When I came up, I saw a freckled-face red-haired boy grinning at me. I did not know him. He was a 'new' boy. As it is considered very bad form for a 'new' boy to play a trick on a senior (you see I may not have looked it, but I was two years his senior) I was duly indignant. I scrambled out of the water, chased and caught him. Then I gave him a good ducking."

"The next day Winston (for the freckled one was our present chancellor of the exchequer) apologized to me. In doing so he explained that as my back was turned to him and on account of my small stature, he was unaware that I was entitled to the respect due to a senior boy. 'But,' he added, 'my father, who is a great man, is also small.'"

Secretary Amery's favorite hobby is mountain climbing. Any mountain or hill "provokes" him at once. In honor of his last visit to Canada one of the Rockies was named "Mount Amery." His great ambition, ever since has been to climb it.

Cudahy's Puritan Ham

Finer Flavor because ripened naturally

Cudahy's Puritan Ham is distinguished for its finer flavor and delicious tenderness, and it owes these qualities to the special Cudahy method of curing.

This exacting method of preparing the young meats selected for Puritan, slowly and naturally diffuses the rich, meat juices without forcing or hurrying. The result is like tree-ripened fruit, compared to artificial ripening.

You will be delighted with Cudahy's Puritan Ham. It is so easy to prepare; you do not need to parboil. Puritan ham stands high in food value and necessary muscle and tissue building elements; and is so easily digested. At your dealer's.

Peek Declares That Only Fresh Dressed Fowl Will Do for Christmas Dinner

Santa Ana, Dec. 21.—Arnold Peek, proprietor of the new Broadway Market, made the statement today that only fresh dressed fowl will be sold by his market for Christmas this year.

Peek stated that he had an assortment of ducks, turkeys, geese, chickens, rabbits, etc., as fine a collection as he had seen anywhere.

He also stated that families should order their Christmas meats as early as possible, because fresh dressed fowl could not be handled in large numbers and he must have time to search for the best to fill each order.

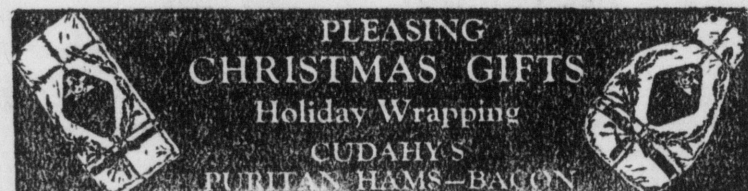

He added that all other fresh meats would be in fashion this year—beef, pork, veal, lamb, etc.

And remember to look at the various tid-bits and meat delicacies at the Broadway Market—there are many things that are very desirable for Christmas dinners.

BOLSA

BOLSA, Dec. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Main of Fullerton, former local residents, entertained at their home recently a party of local friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Howard, Jake Rathke and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Walton.

Mrs. Helen Barnes and daughter, Miss Velda Barnes and son, Vene Barnes, attended on Sunday afternoon the wedding of Miss Agnes Harkness, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harkness, at the Methodist church in El Monte, where the Rev. Mr. Harkness is pastor. Miss Harkness, who is well known here, was married to V. C. Crears, of San Diego, in which city the young couple will make their home. Miss Harkness has been a teacher in the elementary schools of Orange. Miss Velda Barnes who teaches in the high school of Anaheim, is enjoying the holiday vacation, which commenced Wednesday in her school.

Mrs. J. D. Shutt was confined to her home Monday by illness and a physician was called.

Tuesday evening a mass meeting was held at the school house in answer to the request of the school directors, Roy Head, George Harding and J. Eades, the purpose being to discuss the attendance at the local school.

The present attendance of American children in the local school is 50 and Japanese children, 23, while an equal number, 73, are attending school in adjoining school districts, this having become the case before the establishment of the local school bus service. As full bus service is now rendered it is hoped that the pupils will return to their own district and it was to discuss this subject with school patrons that the meeting was called.

Old friends and neighbors of John D. Addington attended the funeral service, which was conducted at the Smith and Tutill funeral parlors in Santa Ana Tuesday by the Rev. Mr. Ames, pastor of the Free Methodist church, Garden Grove. The pall bearers were Mr. Addington's four sons, Charles, Buren, Arch and Elmer Addington; a nephew, Luther Morgan, and C. Blankenbecker.

Mrs. Verne Ferguson has been ill with influenza since last Saturday and is at the home of her mother in Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Rork are confined to their home with influenza. John Farnsworth became ill Wednesday morning. Bobby Ross, who has had quite an extended illness, is somewhat improved and his baby brother Normand, is now confined. George Pysden, who has been ill for some time, has returned to his work. Wilma and Shirley Price have been ill and out of school.

NICE RECORD

Tuscaloosa, Ala., high school football team has beaten an inter-sectional foe to close the season for the past three years. They beat a Chicago high school in 1926, a Lakeland (Fla.) team in 1927 and a Washington (D. C.) team this year.

THE ARREST IN THE RUSH TO THE COLLEGES

Dean Raymond Walther of Swarthmore College, has compiled the statistics from 216 colleges, showing that there has been only a 2 per cent increase in college attendance the past year. There is a significant change, indicating that the rush to the colleges has been arrested, and that from now on there will probably be a decreasing number of students at college.

This undoubtedly will be of some encouragement to college officials, especially in state universities, who have had a difficult time since the war in knowing what to do with the crowds clamoring for admission. Dean Walther suggests that the declining birthrate and the limitation of immigration may have something to do with the declining numbers. They may have for aught we know. But we are of the opinion that the increasing expense of college life is a most important factor. It is increasingly difficult for the impecunious youth to go to college today because of the high tuition and the increasing cost of board, and books, and other necessities. Unless a boy is a shark, and can get the very highest marks the matter of scholarships in our privately endowed institutions help him very little.

The colleges claim that the endowments are not enough to meet the increasing expenditures, but if we are to believe the statement of Professor Munro of Harvard in a recent number of the Atlantic Monthly, many of our colleges are playing poorer than they really are. We recognize the increased cost of living since the close of the war, but we doubt whether the increase in the cost of living has been commensurate with the increased cost of education. After all the great endowment of many of our private institutions and the appropriations for our state universities were intended to make it possible for every boy or girl to get the higher education. If it is becoming impossible for the bright boy or girl to get the higher education it is unfortunate. It has been a matter of pride here in America that the door of opportunity was always open for the ambitious youth. If now it is to be closed simply for lack of adequate means, the matter should be known.

A man down in New York swallowed 10 razor blades the other day. Another sacrifice to science.

THE CONFIRMATION OF ROY O. WEST

The lands committee of the Senate has reported favorably on the nomination of Roy O. West as Secretary of the Interior by a vote of seven to three.

A fight has been waged against the confirmation of Mr. West because of his connection with public utilities and particularly with the interests of Samuel Insull of Chicago, for whom West was attorney. When he was appointed by President Coolidge he disposed of his stock in the Insull properties.

Let it be remembered that the Secretary of the Interior is a member of the Federal Water Power Commission and has a controlling influence in water power matters where the United States government is interested. Be it remembered also the exposures made by the Federal Trade Commission show an amazing propaganda carried on by the power trust and the fight which is getting to be acute between private power interests and the public, and then think whether you as a member of the great American public would like to see a man whose whole sympathy is with the power trust, put in charge of your power producing property.

Bear in mind that the official who has the final decision on the question of the Swing-Johnson bill is the Secretary of the Interior. When this bill has been signed by the President it will go into force and effect when there has been a guarantee presented to the Secretary of the Interior of enough contracts for the use of power generated at the dam, so that within 50 years it shall have been paid for. The Secretary of the Interior shall decide whether these contracts shall be private or public.

Let us presume that Mr. West should be continued as Secretary of the Interior, a man whose whole interest has been vitally connected with the power interests. Then let us go one step further and presume that the power interests would make any bid for power from this dam. Mr. West, in harmony with his interest and training, would simply decide that he would not accept propositions from public corporations like cities of Los Angeles, Santa Ana, San Bernardino, and other places.

The forces which have been fighting the Boulder dam would have won as effectually as if they had killed the bill in the Senate. We might have to go through our fight all over again, and it would center around the personality.

It's strange there aren't more women architects—so many of them are designing.

A GREAT FUTURE

At last the legal phases of the enactment of the Swing-Johnson bill are all completed. The measure has received its final touch with the President's signature, and it is a law.

The great Southwest in this measure has a Christmas present of immeasurable and lasting value. We can gird ourselves for the work of the future with a confidence that the years will fulfill the highest hopes and expectations of the most enthusiastic Californian.

KING GEORGE IMPROVING

By the latest reports from the bedside of King George, England will have a relieved and happy Christmas. King George is better. For a time, it looked as though on Christmas eve Great Britain would be plunged into mourning. But the world rejoices with all the people of the British empire that the king is gaining strength.

WE MUST WORK OUT OUR OWN SALVATION

It appears that the "fighting parson" of Los Angeles, Bob Shuler, has been consulted concerning "bootlegging" in Orange county. Just why Dr. Shuler is consulted for Orange county, we do not know. If he can help better anything in this county we are for him, and we know he can if he should devote his attention to it, as we believe any man who devotes his attention to doing good can be helpful.

We believe however, from everything we have learned, that conditions in respect to "bootlegging" are infinitely better here in Orange county than they are in Mr. Shuler's county of Los Angeles. We think before they would ever reach the conditions that are there, there would be little short of a riot raised in Orange county. We have an able and courageous group of ministers in Orange county.

While we are confident that there are law violations in Orange county, we are also certain that the leaders of the religious and moral forces of Orange county are as responsive to any challenge placed before them along this line as any group of men or women who can be found anywhere. We are completely persuaded that our officials are a great improvement over the officials serving most of the counties of the state.

There is sufficient virility within Orange county to correct wrong-doing. All that is needed is for the citizens to know the facts.

THE LATEST FROM MEXICO

Two items of news have recently come out of Mexico which are very significant. The first is that the new president will meet a representative of the Roman Catholic Church to consider a proposition to settle the controversy which has been on now for nearly two years between the Church and the State. The second item is that the C. R. O. M., the Federation of Labor of which Luis Morones, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, is the leader, in the Cabinet of President Calles until the assassination of Obregon, and which was all powerful during the Calles regime, is breaking up. Already, it is said, a number of the strongest unions have deserted the Federation. And a short time ago, a great mob ran through the streets of Mexico City shouting, "Down with Morones!"

This is disquieting news. It simply means a shift of parties in power. If peace is made between the State and the Church, and the C. R. O. M. loses political control, the whole question of the continuance of the principles of the revolution will again be in the air. The domination of the C. R. O. M. was as arbitrary and complete as was that of the Church. Perhaps it might be well for Mexico if in the future no class, whether it be the Federation or the Church, shall be all powerful. That may be the explanation of the news from Mexico.

THE SHOPPING SCRAMBLE

Despite the "do your shopping early" signs that made their appearance early enough as reminders, and the good resolutions made last year, it is a safe bet that a great many of us have let at least a part of our Christmas shopping wait until the last minute.

Then we'll go through the usual scramble at the post office, and lots of the people to whom we're sending gifts won't get them until several days after Christmas.

In that connection it might be a good thing to remember the air mail service. If you're sending a parcel to a point that is served by an air mail line you would do well to keep that in mind. The service ought to be a boon to late Christmas shoppers—a boon they don't deserve.

Mennonites In Paraguay

Oakland Tribune

In that disputed area, The Chaco, cause of the present war demonstrations by Bolivia and Paraguay, is a colony of Mennonites, established by men who would be freed of obligations to bear arms and free to perpetuate ancestral customs and language.

The plight of the colony is a sad one, for before this war broke out troubles were encountered with the drainage of the rich lands and word came out that fever and starvation were suffered, and that the numbers in the colony had been greatly reduced, and that relief was sorely needed.

Mennonites left Pennsylvania to settle in Canada, then moved to Mexico. Two years ago they wandered to Paraguay where, it seemed, they had found their fertile lands. The Government at Asuncion granted the colony a charter that exempted them from bearing arms, paying taxes, or taking oath in court. Two thousand men and women set up their homes and planned to welcome forty thousand more.

As this war, if it comes, will be for The Chaco the lot of the non-combatant Mennonites, already sad, will become the harder. The experiment which failed in Pennsylvania because of the hostility toward ancient Mennonite customs and language, and was of little success in Mexico, has had its largest discouragement in Paraguay. The Mennonites, with rare persistence, have sought to set up a Utopia in which there should be no taxes, no common school system and no defense against foes.

In The Chaco they acknowledged defeat before the war scare broke. Today they are receiving aid from former neighbors and kinsmen who remained in Pennsylvania and are living another chapter in the tragedy which has beset them.

An Eminent Amateur

San Diego Union

New York is trying the frequently-advocated experiment of drafting a prominent and successful business man to take charge of its police department. There are few professional police-department administrators in the country. That offers any city the alternative between awarding the post to a deserving henchman of a victorious political faction, and turning it over to a man of known administrative ability in the hope that the qualities that make for success in business will be equally useful in managing a big-city police force. Under either plan, the job remains very much in politics. It is not yet recognized as involving professional duties for which any incumbent should have specialized professional training.

The fact is that most government is in the hands, not of experts in government, but of experts in getting votes.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

I'm told that fifty dollar bills
Are brittle when they're new
And should be laid away in tills
A year, or maybe two—
That when this trifling time has passed
Their fibers will grow strong
And one will find that they will last
A hundred fold as long.

This statement may be true or false,
But I shall never know,
For I have neither tills nor vaults
In which my bills to stow
And be they frail or be they strong
All those I ever see
Assuredly will last as long
As they abide with me.

Though old and worn or crisp and new
With backs of gold or green
They tarry briefly in my view
Then vanish from the scene.
They have to go for this or that—
Bright butterflies are they
Which touch my hand to leave me flat
And flutter on their way.

And if they crack or tear across
As on their flight they fare
Some other man must stand the loss
And little do I care.
So let them brittle be, or tough
The few I ever see
Will certainly last long enough
To take away from me!

LUCK

Luck is like lightning. You don't know where it is going to strike.
Every man who has achieved success is a believer in luck. Many people come forward to explain their victory, but they know it is largely due to a fortunate break in circumstances. Luck often furnishes the coveted opportunity.

Every man wants to know how to be lucky and get the proper chance; for his benefit we would suggest a few items. All you have to do, if you want to be lucky, is to watch the lucky ones, see what they do, and do likewise.

For instance, clip out newspaper items telling of good fortune. In half a dozen papers you will accumulate such valuable tips on how to be lucky as these:

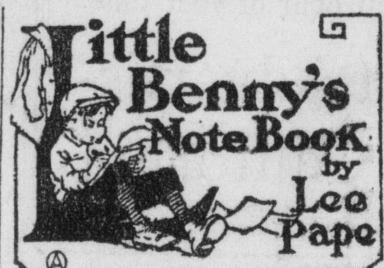

On Thanksgiving Day a man sat down with his family to eat the drum-stick of a nicely browned turkey. Inside the fowl were discovered five gold nuggets which the bird had swallowed.
Tip Number One:

If you want to be lucky, always have turkey for Thanksgiving.
In Luneberg, Germany, recently a beautiful monument was dedicated to a lean and scraggly pig. Five years ago the pig's owner noticed it acting strangely in his backyard and went out to investigate. He found it licking a deposit of salt which it had uncovered in its rooting. The deposit proved to be one of the richest in Germany and the lucky owner became a rich man.
Tip Number Two:

Keep a lean and scraggy porker in your backyard if you would be fortunate.
In the West a young man was out walking with his best girl when she spied a flower near the top of a high embankment. It being hard to get, she wanted it. So the young man clamored and panted up the hill, pulled up the flower, and what do you think? He discovered under it a rich vein of gold. Absolutely!

Tip Number Three:

To be lucky always do what your girl wants you to do. Now such a course of searching for luck is logical enough. The only trouble with it is that luck and logic don't know each other.

I bawt my Christmas presents today, buying a wisk for pop to brush his clothes and a imitation diamond chest pin for my sister Gladdis and a pair of red stockings for ma and a bottle of 20th Century hair tonic for our cook Nora and a red and green and yellow and blue necktie for my new brother in law Harvey, and I came home with them all tied up in different packages, and I sneaked in the house with them so nobody would see me and started to hunt around for some place to hide them were nobody would think of looking, and after a while I decided under the sofa in the living room, and I got under there with them with only my legs sticking out, and here was under there a lot of packages already, me thinking, G roozlem somebody elts put theirs here ferst.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

A BAD SIDE OF PROGRESS
Improvement does not necessarily mean progress.
The cable, the radio, television—these seem clearly cases of progress.
But they have implications that are dangerous as well as desirable.
They may result in a world in which the man on the job will become a mere puppet, while all the major decisions will be made by a man far from the job, a man of good mind but inadequate contact with the day-to-day facts of the problems he presumes to solve.
The more technical and complicated our civilization becomes the more important it becomes that the conduct and control of our civilization shall be lodged in the hands of men who are on the job rather than in the hands of men who are on the side lines.
But as we perfect the instruments of long-distance and quick communication, the more we are tempted to allow a man in a swivel-chair thousands of miles away to make important decisions, which in an age of slow communication would have to be made by the man on the job.
In the old days the master of a clipper ship, for instance, was obliged to master in fact as well as in name.
The old shipmaster matched his wits with the winds and whims of the sea; he alone accepted full responsibility for handling his ship; and the result was a race of truly masterful masters of ships.
Today we leave the shipmaster all the ancient trappings of his past, but the man in the home office in instantaneous wireless and radio communication is tempted to take greater and greater control of the ship.
And there are not lacking signs that these new long-distance controls at sea may, in time, give us a race of subservient routiners carrying out the orders of some man sitting far from the tang and treachery of the sea, instead of the old race of great shipmasters with a genius for quick and masterful action.
Improvement is not always progress.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

MY FATHER
"My father, my father, he can get anything he wants."
"So can my father."
"My father, he can, he can go faster'n anything on the road. My father can."
"Not faster'n MY father can."
"I betcha. I betcha anything he can't."
"Aw. Don't I know? Ain't he MY father?"
"Maybe he is. But all the same, all the same, he can't do what my father can."
"He can do anything."
"He can't make the stars stop shining. God makes the stars shine. 'N nobody, not even my own father can stop them. See?"
"My father, MY father, when he don't want the stars to shine he just pulls down the shade, see?"
One smiles at the childish battle that ends in silence for want of more words. But one cannot smile at the faith that underlies the battle. MY father is wonderful. He remains wonderful just as long as father allows himself to be so.
It is a terrible blow to a child to discover that his father is not the all-powerful, all-wise, all-loving power he thought him to be. As a little child father was the source of all power, as a boy father remained a wonderful hero. There was nothing he could not do. Then one day father failed him. He didn't live up to the boy's ideal.
The bitterest drop lies in the helplessness of the situation. What can the boy do? He cannot even speak about his trouble. He cannot say or do anything that will change the situation. The father he loved, idealized, swore by, was never true. Despair settles down on the childish heart. Father has failed him.
No one can live up to the ideal of childhood. But one can maintain a relationship with one's children that will permit the childish ideal to merge into another ideal of a fatherhood. Humanity need not fail its children utterly. Father can live so close to his child that there will never be any such tragedy as befalls the disillusioned child.
A father who does not know his children, who meets them only occasionally, loses the finest experience of his life. A mother can do superhuman work in rearing.
